

ADHD

Posted by shmuel - 09 Dec 2008 02:18

If one has to take medicine for ADHD, and the medicine can cause a person to get sexually aroused more easily what should they do. Maybe someone has experience with stimulants to know if there are any which have less of an arousal side effect than others.

=====
=====

Modanafil

Posted by UTS - 16 Dec 2008 04:55

Did you ever hear of this? It is used for narcolepsy. However, it may be also used off-label for other things, as many drugs prescribed by shrinks are. I was just looking into this, because I am drowsy during the day and may have ADD. I think I found things that bear looking further into, but I have not done much research yet.

Maybe google "Modanafil", or try Medscape.com ., if you want to research this.

Later I found a few links that may be helpful. In searching I used "Modanafil for ADD" as one search.

I also found out that it is very expensive.

www.revolutionhealth.com/drugs-treatments/rating/provigil-for-addadhd-inattentive-type

www.crazymeds.us/CrazyTalk/index.php?showtopic=2999

wiki.answers.com/Q/Does adderall cause mood swings and anger issues My husband is on this and he is mad all the time and tells us we are stupid and not listening to him.

www.modafinil.com/article/provigil.html

=====
=====

Re: ADHD
Posted by UTS - 21 Dec 2008 13:07

Shmuel,

Another thing, you may not need the effect of any meds for ADHD at night, if that helps any, at which time you can take a bzd, and probably an SSRI can be given together with the meds for ADHD. Many SSRIs are helpful, as you can see in the meds section on this site.

=====
=====