His original name was Jackabbey, then he changed it to shmeichel. But when they imported all the old posts into the new forum they came in with the original name.

those black ones, those black ones i wish i wouldn't of bought them i blinked at them, then i just peeped at them then i glared & stared at them then i was all sold for them, i only wanted the black ones now looking back at those black jelly beans they where not there for me in the first place and i wish i would of known that my soul and spirit is something with a lot of value and black beans are not good for me but here you go

i have eaten them, swallowed them, had my full share of them i wish i could just sick them out, throw them up spit them back in the face of the one who offered it to me but there is no such thing i have to fix the damage that each and every single black bean has done to me and i really hate that retailer who sold them to me
