Bout the titanic bashing, I understand it has a bit nudity...etc. But that is not the point of it. I think it's an amazing story of true love and real caring in a world gone crasy.

we live in a real world and we really care. rose and jack are fiction. and the rules in their game are not the rules in our game. lets keep that straight. but if were learning from holywood about true love, what about fiddler on the roof. know the song, "do i love you?" so, what is true love? hmmm... lets ask holywood... c'mon! youre better than that! we're better than that! (and i did grow up watching many many movies and i do struggle with this)

how about a diff story of true love...

some guy grew up in a home as a twin and his father seemed to favor his brother. his brother also had it in for him, so his mom stepped in and sent him away and his father seemed to be behind the decision even though unclear what his initial intentions were. he runs off to his cousin's and at the well of the town sees a lot of shepherds and a stone on the well. suddenly he sees a beautiful woman approaching and gathers the strength to lift the stone from the well and well, he loved her, and the story goes on from there... (and there are more where that came from

!, and even then it's unclear what love is and when it's good or bad)

we don't need leo and kate to display these things for us. i give you a bracha that you should really experience it in your life and find love in your own special way.

maalin,

continuing on the movie theme.

.. dark night is a pretty solid film, but again, it's a film, a lot of music and effects to impress all of us good for you for getting rid of the tv. and do what you gotta do man. if the couch has got to go... keep it up maalin!

gut voch!

oh, c'mon trying!

what is harry's strongest defense against the dark lord?

love! true selfless love! his mother gave him a huge gift!

that's exactly what we need here to battle the y"h.

and what keeps on surfacing as something that many of us feel we are lacking...

and if we realize, accept and become truly aware that our Father in heaven gives this to us unconditionally and always, then i think we may be well on our way...
