but you don't really know me. I'm benavraham. Single, university student, and struggling for years with my addiction to lust. I've been reading the forum and receiving the daily chizuk for months, and I've been on the chart (benavrahamhalevi) for 20 days (!), but I hadn't really introduced myself yet. Hello!

Wow!

Welcome!

And how were you able to hold back until now?

I think I was afraid of accountability. But even these few lines that I've written so far have me feeling great about charging through another day clean! Thanks for the chizuk. I'm looking forward to posting more frequently.

Welcome benAvram!

If you've been on the chart, you know about the handbooks. Did you try reading through them?
