Hi Guys,

i need your help

i got started a few weeks ago on the forum, and following Dov`s advice- i decide to join a phone conference.

my problem is that i can never find a good time to call in.

at night i am home or learning, so that doesnt work.

i am trying to join duvid chaims phone conference during the day @12pm est. but this is also hard since i need to leave work for an hour for the call and i dont know where to make the call.

any advice on a good location to go to when calling in to the 12 step conference?

i can technically listen in to the phone conference on my headphones in work- is this an option?

i would say to take a walk while you make the call, but it would be a little long, if theres a park next to ur office maybe you can do it there
