

the void

Posted by nitzotzeloki - 07 Apr 2013 18:34

unfortunately im dealing with some very severe depression which started recently (it usually happens this time of year) i feel like a complete piece of * and davening and learning is really difficult for me. i want to connect to Hashem but the only g-d i know when im in this state is the g-d of fantasy and temporary pleasure. ive been white knuckling it so far but as dov says 'how long can you hold youre breathe?' i feel totally self involved, stuck in my own head which is the worst place for me to be. ive been reaching out to get some off internet help and im holding on the best i can. i feel this empty space inside and i dont know whats even supposed to go there. im not good at saying what i actually feel, always thinking that i 'have' to be okay. well right now im not okay.

Warning: Spoiler!

we started doing the 12 steps in a group format.

in other news, most of us went to the conference in yerushalayim. there many people who did not know that our group exists found out about us. now we as a group have some decisions to make. may Hashem guide us.

For some reason, the conjured up image of the chimp who is your avatar, skittering about in feverish toilet cleansing elicits peels of laughter from my otherwise rather stoic posture. A quick reminder of the true nature of your countenance restores me to sanity, though it may render you rather unsanitary.

here are some things G-d has done for me in the past couple of days, some oinkers were at my apt the other day and one of them was using my computer he found some things that shouldn't have been there and deleted them

today i was walking down the street and bumped into duvid chaim. we had a really nice talk and he shared with me his iceberg model B FATB

B is behavior its whats above the surface

F is feelings its below

A is attitude which is under the feelings

T is thinking

B is beliefs

(he told me that his price for telling me is my passing it on)
