

Recommended listening list

I thought, for the benefit of the oylam, I'd make a list of songs that have kept me going, and given me chizuk. Some of them are poshut why they're on the list, while some are slightly more 'wacky', but all of them are incredible songs that have made a difference to me. Some of these songs are good for chizuk, while some are incredible to help us realise everything that Hashem does for us. Music can be a powerful tool in this struggle, and here are just a few songs that helped me. The list is far from complete- feel free to add! (In fact, please add so I don't feel like) Here it is, arranged by artist, with the album in brackets:

As long as there is nothing assur about the music itself, I don't see it as a problem.

I suppose that depends on your definition of kol isha. Some hold if she is no longer alive or you don't know what she looks like its okay. Others hold as long as its not live its okay.

Would it be a problem to post the lyrics here?

Is this a halachic shayla or looking for advice as to whether something is likely to be triggering. If it is a halchic shayla, it should be addressed to a qualified Rov.

In any case, posting goyish lyrics on the open forum is probably not a good idea. Maybe you could PM someone the lyrics. But only if you have already decided that the fact that it is non-jewish music is not a problem. And I don't know how you would figure that out.

You

Some hold..... Others hold

What does your rabbi hold?

According to Halachically speaking,

"It must be noted that even those who permit listening to recorded singing only permit it if one heard it while making a beracha, but listening to it l'chatchilah is always forbidden.⁴⁸"

Postin' goyish lyrics on the forum!?

Oh, what a shame that would be!

There would be no words to describe it; tragic! It's a tragedy; it's too hard to bear!

It may seem tough, but this road to recovery has taken all i have.

And writin' spiritual lyrics would create fireworks here.

I mean, it's not like the old time of rock n' roll.

There's a time and a place for everthin'.

But in all seriousness, postin' that stuff on this site..... isn't it ironic...don't you think; a little too ironic, and, yeah, I really do think.

I said, "I don't know why I do this, I thought that you knew this."

Take care.
