

Welcome, New Members!

Posted by skeptical - 18 Sep 2013 06:30

There are a lot of new guys who have taken advantage of Ellul-Tishrei to sign up here and work on really living life.

A lot of them don't know where to begin. The ones who have started their journey being clean, can't help but wonder how long it will last.

First of all, I would like to extend a hearty welcome. Make yourselves comfortable and tell us about yourselves.

I would like this thread to be an information booth of sorts, a first stop for people who are trying to figure out where to start.

Please do not get into discussions on this thread. If there is something that works for you, post it here. If there is something on the forum that helped you, quote it here. If you have questions about something posted here, please quote and ask about it elsewhere. I would like this thread to be clear so that people don't need to go digging for it.

Hatzlacha!

Hi, my first time posting, so not sure if this is really gonna work. Nervous to be here but also curious and a little hopeful that we his can be the lasting change I'm looking for. I'm 30 married with kids and I have never been able to completely block this stuff out of my life, every new gadget comes with its porn until I block and many other situations. It really makes me feel like a dumpster fire of hypocrisy and shame. Which leads to bad self image and then bad interactions with my wife and the cycle repeats.

Hi there R' fighting4ever! It was defiantly a smart move to post here to the warmest family of klal yisroel.

I would recommend to reach out to michelgelnier@gmail.com, he is someone who struggled like me and you and has been clean for years. Hundreds here can testify that the phone call to him has set them back in the right direction. Doesn't mean there won't be bumps on the way but it's defiantly a good move.

Hatzlacha Raba and keep us posted.

Hi, how are you?

Can someone suggest me anyone (a therapist or anything similar) that can help me? Someone not judgemental, I had a bad experience with a therapist who didn't understand me and just made the things worse life has been really great the past 13 days I just found out of this site signed myself up and I really felt that this time I'm going to make it through and for 13 days I felt sky high until today when I got a painful reminder that the struggle is a constant one, the path to victory is a long one, but as I'm writing these lines, I feel now more determined than ever to start fighting the battle again and ??? this time I will achieve total victory
