

Does anyone know good English Narrative Therapists

Posted by quick - 12 Nov 2013 21:00

Hi, Im a user on this site under a different pen name but I needed to ask a question unrelated to my usual profile.

I have a friend who doesnt suffer from anything we usually suffer from here such as sex and lust addiction, but is in urgent need of a therapist nonetheless. I have been greatly helped by a narrative therapist but my friend is in London and wants someone as good.

Does anyone have good experience with a Narrative Therapist in London and not sex related? Rather the usual problems of real low self esteem etc.

Thanks guys!

mine is a specialist in narrative therapy.

he speaks English as well

I speak to him on the phone; he does Skype as well.

its the 21st century.

plenty of us have relationships that way as well (es chatasi ani mazkir hayom).

Thanks Cordnoy,

Is it not better to find someone who can do it in person? Wont it be so much more effective?

Right! I suppose anyway that its better to get a top therapist by phone then just a usual one in person.
