if you dont go searching for inappropriate things but rather you see a non-jew not dressed properly for a second is that considered breaking your clean streak?

What constitutes a "Fall" to require restarting the count?

There are "slips" and there are "falls". "Slips" do not require restarting the count. "Falls" do require restarting.

A "Fall" is one of the following things:

Intentional masturbation (with finish)

Intentionally viewing improper sites

Intentionally calling inappropriate telephone numbers

Intentionally seeking out and reading erotica

Worse things, which we need not mention

In regard to number 2 (and 4), if someone saw something by mistake and then got a little bit carried away and kept looking at it, or even if someone saw a link and couldn't resist clicking on it but then catches themselves within a few seconds, that would only be considered a "slip", not a "fall". However, if someone decides to actively pursue viewing bad sites, that would be considered a fall.

If it is, then none of us (or at least very few of us) are clean. Go easy on yourself. Having VERY strict rules about "breaking a clean streak" can be counterproductive. I'm not saying that you should allow yourself to indulge a little. I'm just saying not to call it a "fall".

Perhaps he was thinkin' that if you should c"v see a Jew dressed immodestly, it is most coytainly regarded as a fall!
