I think I'll jump in this time around. The zman ended today for me and I don't have any plans until I leave to Eretz Yisroel at the end of the month.

Same program as Pesach?

Here's my proposal for the group:

1) We agree to learn an hour a day (can be broken into as many parts as you like)

2)We agree to exercise 30 minutes every day

3)We agree to make gedarim about how late we will use the internet and post them here

Here's what inna came up with last time

Makes sense to stick to it unless anyone else has any ideas

I'll try to start the first two this week and wait to make gedarim until I actually start b"h and see what my schedule ends up being like.

Sounds good to me. The exercising part will be the most difficult to be mekabel, but I'm gonna try.
