

I've Been Clean For Many Years, Now What?!

Posted by Sky Is The Limit - 22 Jul 2018 19:46

Hi Gye'ers,

I've been clean for many years now. I loved strong feeling of growth that I felt as each clean day passed by. However as the years went by I started to go numb. I didn't feel anymore growth. I stopped seeing the addiction as an addiction. I even contemplated falling back into the dirt, just to feel the sense of growth by starting all over. I recently joined GYE after seeing an ad for it. When I first saw the ad, I thought "What do I need this for, I am a master at recovery?" That's when it hit me, If I'm a master at being clean then how can i grow anymore? I realized that I can grow by helping others become a master at being clean as well. And this is why I became a GYE member today.

If you are truly a master you should be able to articulate how you did it in a compelling way.

So this is a list of herbal medicines that are supposed to lower the libido in a male. The only one I can tell you I used when I was quitting Porn was Valerian. However I took it for other reasons. But hey?! maybe its what helped me make my way through the addiction, lol

Rehmannia

Ligistrum and Skullcap

Hops and Valerian

Chasteberry

I have supplemented many thin's for my porn addiction. I tried learnin', sports, game playin', meetin's, prayin', book readin'. Each one by itself did not work the greatest.

However, as a cumulative effort, I found that there ain't no greater supplement than livin' life. It's been workin' for quite some time.

On another note, I think my first post on gye (some 10,981 posts ago) was lookin' for a supplement that I can spike my wife's diet coke with that perhaps would increase her libido. There were some ups in this time span, but basically holdin' the same place, except I ain't lookin' any longer.

I know a psychological way to achieve the same thing. Shoot me an email if you don't find a supplement that works for you.

i think i've experienced something similar. I'm not 'clean' in a real way, but i've definitely gotten over A hurdle. I've gone 1-2 weeks a few times recently when previously I couldn't go for a more than a few days,

But i'm not more happier because of it. I guess i'm still dependent on this drug. I haven't gone 90 days. I don't really enjoy doing it as i used to, it's more of a urge to just get it done and then I feel a little better.
