There is a very big "ilyan" in general to try to see "Hashgacha" in the world even in the smallest things. The more we look out for it the more we will see it, and the more we see it, the more we will feel Hashem is always with us, which in turn makes it easier to see Hashem in our lives. It keeps on going in a cycle of a person constantly growing in his awareness of Hashem. I am sure that aside from the general small stories of how someone "happened to miss the bus and meet his shadchan" type of stories (which can also be posted) many of us have such stories that we can post about how we saw Hashem's loving hand guiding us as we fight through our struggles, so I thought it would be great if we can have a central place to post these occurrences when we notice them. And as I said in the beginning the more we think about it the more we'll notice when it happens which will lead us to always feeling Hashem's directing our efforts, and ultimately that should be a huge chizuk for us to keep up the fight and never get knocked down!

As i am still pretty new to the site and didn't really figure out how to navigate so well if anyone knows of such a thread elsewhere on the site please let me know.

Thanks , looking forward to hearing !

As seems to usually be the case , I guess i'll be the first to post.

This past shabbos i was away for shabbos, and when i'm in this area i usually daven in a early minyan and then learn for a few hours before trhe seuda. As it is will say house i'm staying by is on 1st street shul is between first and second street with first street being a quieter block and second street being alot busier street (obviously with much more to look at, many times in the past although not that recently i used to find a excuse to walk down second st although it was out of the way(for the sights). This shabbos i had a reason to go to the corner of second steet onm my way home and almost went that way with a whole reason to justify it. I want to see the new house there...but then i was ????? on myself with the words of the ????? -???? ????? ?????? ??? ?????? ???' ?? ????? ??????. and definitely in no small part to all the work i've been doing over here the last few weeks, and i turned back to first street to walk home on the quiet street. As i turned the corner who did i see walking to me ,none other than my pecious wife and kids who "happened to decide" he wants to daven in shul with Totty. I just want to emphasize how in many years doing this ,my wife and kids have NEVER come to meet me, Secondly my son never wants to go to shul would always rather daven at home(especially whwn we're away from home in a different shul. I just felt a huge feeling of Hashem is watching as right after i was ????? i got a treat from Hashem and even though it may not be life saving or life altering ,it;s the small things like this which when noticed can give us a major and much needed in our time, Thats incredible!

Hashem definitely watches out for those who strive to come closer. Even if sometimes it may seem the opposite.

I have had countless times where my phone would ring or something else to take me away from what I was doing. (Many times that didnt help, but now I dont even have the issues BH)

Can't wait to hear some more stories like this!

Its funny that receiving phone calls is what helped people, I just remembered that it happened to me too.

Two weeks I was having huge urges, biggest since joining gye, and didn't know what to do, suddenly out of the blue my friend calls me asking me to drop off a item of his that was by me, to another friend of mine. He felt guilty making me shlep, offering to pay me, I was thinking you ain't paying me, I should pay you! Bh the eibishter arranged a distraction for me in the perfect time!

allow me to share something hot out of the oven.

i was feeling really down recently.

i mean REALLY down. (for wtvr reason not important) the type of down that the y'h jumps on you and tries to get you as depressed as possible so u can just give up and do aveiros-anybody relate?

anyway i sat down and opened up an email i get to recieve rav meilich bidermans weekly shmuzzen on the parsha,

(in lashon kodesh they have in english as well, its free and i strongly encourage all to get it its great chizuk go to mail@beerhaparsha.com for lashon kodesh or mail@torahwellsprings.com for english, write your full name and the msg should be "i want to register" and you should get it weekly), anyway it says in the posuk "vayomer habet nah hashamaymah usfor hakochavim im tuchal lispor osam vayomer lo ko yihyeh zarecha" zugt rav meir shapiro zt"l for sure if hashem commanded avraham avinu to do something we can be sure that he immediately started doing it. the fact that one cannot count the stars made no difference. if this is the ratzon hashem this is what avraham did!

tayereh yidden hear this-"vayomer lo ko yiyeh zarecha" so too will your children, all yidden, (hey thats us guys!) be like this that despite as towering as the nisyonos may be, no matter what life may throw our way-we will dive in and do the ratzon hashem! no cheshbonos!

we dont have to accomplish-"lo alecha hamelacha" ligmor(pirkei avos) accomplishing is for hashem who will help us-"la-kel GOMER uloi" (tehillim) this vort was so mechazek me and sprung me out of the rut! we jump in and do our tattehs ratzon, no questions!

is it a wonder if hashem looks down at our mesiras nefesh and then says-i will help him out? (this last sentence was inspired by hhm)

i "happened" to get a hisorerus to check out that email even though i had opened it earlier and i found the perfect vort for me at the perfect time.

THANK YOU HASHEM!

p.s. sorry i dont type well in loshon kodesh lol

Someone posted here on the forums just before Rh that during the blowing of the shofar it's a good idea to take a resolution in this area.

I did that and asked the eibishter to help stay clean for an additional 50 days. I had in mind to reach 250 days, 50 more then my goal I made after reaching 90 days which was to hit 200 days. But i guess he took it differently and I ended up staying clean for 140 days, 50 days more then 90, I reached 90 days on erev Rh. Just realized this.

Had a time when i was in the bathroom on the computer in the afternoon when nobody was home, and didnt want to mess up. Then i ended up getting sucked in deeper and deeper, i wanted to get out of it and knew i cudnt. Kinda cried from my heart to Hshm for help but knew i was in for it.

All of the sudden i hear my mother coming into the house, very out of schedule. Was a biiiig save.

Pretty sure i had more little things that i felt were like warning signs at other times. If/when i

This happened a few months ago.

I was very down. I had just broken my longest clean streak of 194 days. For 8 days, I rolled in the filth, and then decided to get myself back up again, and try for a 2nd round of 90 days clean. The first few weeks were the hardest. I had recently started learning in a new Kollel. I took a short bathroom break one day, and since I was still in the doldrums, I fell back on old habits. I started giving in (touching myself "down there"), when I happened to look at the graffiti that was scrawled on the back of the door. I saw a crude picture of an eye, with the words "We see you" scrawled underneath. I stopped cold! I had used that bathroom stall before, but never noticed this particular scribble. A few weeks later, I was in the same restroom stall again, and the walls had been scrubbed clean! the message was there when I needed it and then removed

This morning in Shul I was being triggered badly, by more than one person. Which ever way I faced... then I happened to notice on the next table over was a Kuntris on Shmiras Einayim! So I spent the rest of Chazaras Hashatz reading it.

That's powerful! I'm really impressed that you were able to pick yourself back up after a fall like that.

The more that I fight this yetzer hara, the more I see Hashem's hand behind the scenes. From making sure that things work out, to helping me out. I am sure that others here experience the same thing. This is a huge boost for me, as it shows that no matter what I have done until now, Hashem is on my side, is rooting for me, and is even willing to "pull strings" for me. Here is my biggest ?????? ?????? story in this whole saga.

Around 11 months ago, I found myself quite fed up with my behaviors. I don't remember where I saw about it, but somewhere I read about the filter from a company called Gentech. I realized that without a good filter I am fighting with one hand tied behind my back. I signed up, even though this service costs money. (In retrospect, this small fee is the best money that I ever spent) I was on a 16 day clean streak, and started the 90 day challenge. After 2 days, I was MZ"L. I started again, and after 18 days, I fell again. I was feeling very depressed with myself. I had set up my filyer as a whitelist, only allowing the sites that I need, and nothing else. The Gentech site, even though not on my official whitelist, was also allowed. I was looking at the site, and I saw a link for those who need help with online "issues". I don't know what made me think to click t, but I clicked the link. Despite my having a whitelist, the link opened the GYE site! I browsed for a few minutes, and signed up. I then contacted the filtering company, and added this site to the whitelist. This has been very instrumental in my reaching my longest clean streak in 25 years, 194 days. Even though I was using a whitelist, the one site that could (and did) really help me, opened anyway!
