

My first achievement!

Posted by Eshaiproductions - 29 Nov 2018 03:08

I can officially say that I have registered and secured myself with GenTech filter and now I have full proofed myself! I felt like I made a big achievement and I need to celebrate this with someone , it was the biggest challenge for me to do because I live in Australia and was faced with technical difficulties, system problems on both my phone and laptop, and finally problems dealing with international calling unable to receive the calls, but finally after much effort found a way which they could contact me and be able to run the program on my devices. So if I can do it anyone else can, and if you don't already have the program I encourage you to get it, with all the success stories I don't believe there is any chance of failing especially knowing that I have
