There is No Better Time Than Now Posted by Holy Yid - 09 Apr 2012 09:20
I fell twice tonight. Untill a few minites ago I did not want to fall again but I did not care just re-read my first thread about my first trip to 90 day and that inspired my to get backwagon.
i now have many more tools than I did then. I know soooo much better what to do BUT have the same motivation.	I did no i can waste hours online that i could spend in 1000 better ways.
I will not bore you with my sad feelings of falling right after the seder. If I fell I was not recovery.	really in
I know the real first step is to realize I am WASTING my life away here. and then to sta for Hashem. This is a tall order but I do not have any other options right now.	rt living BTW I do miss that Guard wont post responses like he used to in the old days.
