I just did and it was the third time today and it feels terrible. And now I feel like I've been put on drugs that cause depression. Why not go outside for a walk instead? Fresh air helps me personally and it helped prevent me from doing anything worse than I already did today.

I started to masturbate when I was 10 or 12 years old, because my parents had sex and I had to listen to them. It caused an impact on me. After I discovered masturbation, I masturbated alone, I had a PC and discovered a pornography website, I became very addicted From masturbating once a day I increased to 10 times a day or more, there was a time when it no longer caused the same experience so I started to get into online video chats looking for girls, when I discovered that website with colleagues I ended up masturbating with them in a room 6 guys masturbating.. My mind was corrupted due to so much pleasure. I began to fantasize about the mother of my friends, with my aunts, with my cousins, due to pornographic videos that focused on stories like this. At the age of 17 the reason for masturbating changed and now it was exchanging photos and videos with women... I started to look at the size of my penis and I got excited to see that they liked it. When I least thought about it, I was already a precocious boy, addicted to seeing my body and I even thought badly of my mother. I lasted 9 months without masturbating and 3 months ago I fell again... and the desire increased more. I'm clean but I want to stop thinking about lust
