

THIS IS WAR

Posted by the.guard - 10 Oct 2023 13:55

Hi Chevra, I just had a Zoom meeting with a Highschool Rebbe who has over 3,000 days clean on GYE and started crying when he thanked us for the help GYE had given him about 10 years ago. He also told me that he helped many bochurim through our site.

Rabbosai, we're fighting against a bigger threat to Klal Yisrael than Hamas. But together we will WIN! The Zohar says that all the wars on this world are fought mainly in the upper-worlds between the angels who are appointed over each nation, the Satan and Yisroel.

All of us here on GYE have a big opportunity to do OUR part in this war against evil. Everytime we say no to the Yetzer Hara down below, a soldier is saved from danger, or another terrorist falls in Gaza. We are on the FRONT LINES of the final battle before Moshiach.

Love it!

Hamas has the letters Samich Mem in it. Let's fight the Samich Mem to rubble. No Cease fire. No deals. On target. Strategically. Consistent. He'll regret the moment he started up with me (and you).

Until we eliminate the enemy, which will IYH help the coming generations.

May we be zocho to see Moshiach.

I think the Gaza / Simchat Torah / Operation Swords of Iron war presents a challenge for those of us on here.

We are extra stressed, tired, and can really feel down after watching the news.

When a Jew dies, it affects me.

My advice is to not watch it too much, and instead to take extra care.

Do some learning, daven, go for a walk, help someone in need.

Don't watch at all if possible, I don't watch and I live in Israel and alive and well bH.

What do you do for the war? Life any different since Simchas Torah?

I studied more.

Parsha, Aggadah, Mussar.

I tried to speak more to family and friends in Israel.

To lift their spirits.
