I am looking for a tool to block access to websites specifically YouTube and it's for a computer running windows 10 preferably with the ability to password lock it.

You want or need everything else to be open? Do you want the ability to request specific videos?

Check out techloq.com

for right now I study on the computer so I need most things to be open I just won't YouTube to be blocked and for right now I don't need access to any videos if I can control it or have someone unlock it to watch specific things that would be okay..
