Hi Chevra!

The Admin moved my thread to the BB forum, but I haven't forgotten you, and want to keep you in the loop too.

I will bl"n post appropriate posts here too!

It's gr8 to be back in zeman, I am forcing myself to daven like a mentch as I know that that is a big catalyst for me to stay spiritual connected and fit.

Have started on step 4 but my sponsor lost sobriety so will see what my new one says.

I am meant to be an ?? at a ??? tomorrow, but are unsure of the halachic fitness of my situation.

Its a little sticky and hope I will get direction in time

It is so liberating.

I procrastinated for ages to ask the shaala - coz I was scared of the answer...

But I knew that I have to do the next right thing...

Both Rabbi Zimmerman and Rabbi Berkowitz gave the green light BH

I feel like i'm on a roller coaster

I think my sponsor loosing sobriety shook me a bit

I didn't act out, but did do some pretty stupid things...

Made a effort to contact my sponsor even during the chassuna last night

- made up a time to speak today IYH

I should really make some calls

Spoke to my best friend in SA - someone I know indepently of program - but was introduced to him through GYE - Thank You

Just what the doctor ordered!

Went to yeshiva even though VERY late, I really wanted to escape - but I knew that it wont help and just make things worse.

I walked into the Beis Hamedrash at 12:30 - walked back out, and then took a DEEP breath and reentered actually learnt for half an hour and was present for the rosh chaburas spontaneous chabura [it was pretty boring, but said a very shtark vort in the last 1 minute - worth waking up for!!]

I received a PM from a great guy asking me to update thee oilam on the censored version - well I gotta share a secret with you - i haven't been updating the uncensored version either recently...

Actually I was gonna restart posting this week IYH so lets see where things go...

I've had a really busy elul and my computer was semi down [and I didnt want to share my struggles..]

BH I'm 2 weeks FULLY sober!

A great trick my [new] sponsor told me is to open my hand outwards when surrendering

I don't know why - BUT IT WORKS!!

[especially helpful when surrendering fantasies during seder and when people are around!]

Will KIT IYH!

BH 4 weeks sober

Chol Hamoed is sort of a calm time - will hopefully have the menuchas hanefesh to read some literature.

Got loads of inspiration from ILH247 thread! [particularly his raw honesty and that he doesn't see the need to fenefer himself]

It's been a while since i've posted anything substantial... a combination of a couple of factors, lets see what happens.

I don't like posting when it's not 'fresh'

Top plate: going away with WW for a couple of days - going with an open mind and an ability to surrender.

Not to the most tznuyus resort and have religious guilt, however I asked a shaala and was told

it's ok

Due to the constant pestering of a certain tzaddik i am giving an update -

I haven't been posting for a while [it's not only the censored version that's been complaining...]

My menuchas hanefesh level is low - which really means that i'm not spiritually fully connected

I've been making calls and attending meetings, considering a new sponsor.

Kimat not missing a minyan or a teffila - but still alot of escaping...

I've been shtieign in Mir and yeshiva although still have constant fantasies of acting out [in person]

Basically sober [ie depends on the definition] - working on just for today

Have zero cheshek to have to go back to step one and thats what is holding me back
