

Chizzuk Needed

Posted by simchastorah - 04 Nov 2024 10:39

Shalom to all the courageous members of GYE, who deal with this nisayon that so many struggle with, bravely admitting to their issues and doing everything that they can to overcome it. I had a different thread in the past, but have not been active on it for a long time. I have been struggling recently and what I have tried has not helped. I have a filter, accountability with HHM, and have delved deeply into my inner life to try and understand the roots of my struggle. I daven passionately to Hashem in every way I know how to help me, but alas I find myself falling again and again.

My hisbonenus for today is to be mischazek in the emuna that Hashem has infinite koach and He can overcome my yetzer no problem. And ??? ?????? ????????. And that any voice in my head that tells me I'm bound to fail, ????? ??? ??????. As some explain the the ??? ????? is this thought itself, that I don't have the power to overcome the yetzer.

Yesterday I fell three times and by the end of the day I felt like I was living in hell. I finished a productive and meaningful morning seder and walked home davening to Hashem to help me not to fall. By the time I got home I felt that I had the chizzuk I needed to not fall. Even with being mchuzak I fell and wasted much precious time throughout the day trying to find cracks in my filter to squeeze out whatever filthy content I could.

But ????? ??????? and I am absolutely committed to not being ???????.

I am committing bli neder to posting here every day until I have 30 days clean from porn and masturbation.

Day 11 "?"?

You know? I come in here every day, and while clicking on this thread I pray silently "Please Hashem let it be another clean day for Simches Torah"

Its like we have our own Sfiras Ha'Omer going on over here....

Keep on going upwards.

P.S. you know you can call me whenever you want. Or chat, or PM or email. or mail. Whatever works for you.....

Thanks for checking in friends. I'm sorry to report that I have not been clean. I fell a few days in a row last week, each day multiple times. I didn't fall on Motzei Shabbos or Sunday or Motzei Shavuos and had a great and uplifting yontif with strong learning through the night. But then yesterday and today I fell a bunch of times. I feel totally out of control.

Like I've mentioned before the main thing for me in being clean is just being clean. It's a switch that I switch on or off. And when it's on then all the eitzos help to make it go smoother, or to maintain. But when it's off it feels like all the eitzos in the world are for a different person.

But ein shum yeush, I will keep on fighting and b'ezer Hashem I will get clean again and win the battle. I will be clean so I can be close to Hashem and have a healthy relationship with my wife. And build a holy home. And learn with holy eyes. And not be part of the cause of ??? ??????. I will keep fighting this terrible battle beh.

Dear Simchastorah,

You're a true inspiration! Your ups and your downs are so full of honesty and real avoida. Keep strong and keep inspiring us!!

I may be wrong, but I have a feeling (from following your thread when you counted day by day; and based on what you wrote here) that "the clean streak" is very important to you. I wonder if this is something that's holding you back from getting back up properly. For me, the clean streak has been beneficial but also often very destructive. Every time I fell after a long clean streak, I had this fear of getting back up and tried to utilise the downfall. It took me time to realise that the counting must be a total side point. Totally irrelevant. It's just a slight incentive, nothing more than that. The main thing is the inner change, finding the root of the issue and techniques/thoughts that speak to you.

I may be totally off target.

Either way, we're looking forward to hearing from you more about your journey...

??? ????,

UpAndDown

Day 3 "?"?

@upanddown I appreciate the insight.

I agree that streaks are a double edged sword.

Something else that I have mentioned, including in the post you posted in response to, is that the main thing in being clean for me is being clean. I don't know how much more I could do in terms of recognizing the underlying issues. I have exhausted that, and continue to work on it. And techniques are helpful, but only for someone who wants to be clean. I think my issue is falling into a darkness where I don't really have the ratzon to be clean. When this happens, having a streak can be enough to get me through for some time until I regain that ratzon. But all the urge surfing in the world will not bring the ratzon, and rehashing my inner issues and mistakes for the 1000th time may not either.
