

matter of perspective

how would you answer this question:

In your house, you and your wife agree than she is the Queen?

- yes

- no

- one minute, let me check with my wife I how I shoudl answer this question.

I sometimes feel that this is not even the right question.

maybe it should be restated:

are you the King, or the servant of the castle?

(if she is the Queen, then theoretically both answers could be correct)

In the United Kingdom there is a Queen but no King.

Well, we are United, and our Home is a Kingdom, so she is the QUEEN.....

do you know the difference between UNITED and UNTIED?

just a matter of where " I " fit in.
