I'm having a hard time running around and trying to keep up with everyone's threads today and every day.

it's 2 O'clock & I haven't started working yet. I'm stuck on the site.

I wish there was a way to keep everything more together.

Y'Know what I mean?

I don't know how you do it. Keep it up.

Dear E.L,

I have the same problem... I can't keep up with everything lately B"H, and also don't get enough work done. But I'm the admin, so me'meilah. But you? Go get some work done! That's more important than answering every single post :D. Im ain Kemach, Ain Torah.

bardichev,

What Post?! lol

Just Kidin

Reb Guard,

You are right, I will try to get work done (I don't think it will last very long, I'm an addict! to this lol) so if you don't see me that much don't worry I'm just working. but I really feel that I must help if I can. I know what I felt like when I am/was in the dumps & I just see it as a huge Zechus to try to help others out if I can.

Besides it gives me a boost as well.

P.S.

If you think you can't keep up now you better get a lot more help because unfortunately there are so many more Yiden out there that in a matter of time will hopefully find this Heiliger Beacon of Kedusha GYE website & to say that your hands will be full 24X6 is an understatement. site. I might have to stay off this site for 90 days.

E.L.
