

shemiras einayim -non internet

Posted by bardichev - 22 Jun 2010 22:42

---

hello all

i used to start topics left and right lately i am trying to keep it simple but here goes

i want to make a little "vinkle" (corner) of the holy forum this is going to be dedicated to discussing the trials and difficulties of shemiras einayim

please feel free to comment and to give ideas and suggestions

this corner is not about internet or po*n

it is also not about addiction per se

I dont know if this will be the most popular thread in the forum

but i am sure it has its benefits

keep on truckin

bards

=====
=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by the.guard - 04 Jul 2010 14:13

---

hopefull wrote on 29 Jun 2010 22:58:

whats really hard for me is street shmiras e'nayim its so depressing for me when i see women in the street

im single and going crazy trying to get married every time i see an attractive women in the street i get so jealous of her husband that he has that and i dont, it really kills me to see such women, its painful is this my lust talking, if i really had that women would i be happy or would i want another women, "variety"?

Please see www.guardyoureyes.org/?p=1733

=====
=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by destructive cycle - 04 Jul 2010 14:16

---

I do not have anything to add to this great thread. I just want o thank my friend Bardy for starting it. I have been reading at it has given me great tips and chizuk. This site in general has been overwhelming, but I love it. Thanks Mr. Admin. Or is that Rabbi Admin. Or Harav Admin. Or HaRav HaGaon Admin.

To the Americans, enjoy the 4th of July BBQ, and save me a hot dog.

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by aish kodesh - 04 Jul 2010 16:48

---

if only we can remember that every day is a war between the yh and the neshama and we have to win the war no matter what ,in a war you have that adrenalin that drives you to do anything to suvive and win , so before you go out to the street or passing a pool remeber your in a war zone they are shooting from all sides so put on your protective gear and fight for your life , and if you win the war god will repay you to make it well worth it

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by briut - 04 Jul 2010 17:41

---

It's funny, but I've recently started working on shmiras einayim. Never before thought it was my challenge in life. But now that I'm getting into it, it's definitely having subtle but palpable changes in me. A little less jumpy, a little less worked up. Never thought that averting eyes from 80-year old women would change anything (yep, that's the halacha, unless maybe it's granny), but it's clearly something beyond MERELY erotica. Wow.

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by bardichev - 04 Jul 2010 19:29

---

Kosher!!!!

Woodford in this world.

In the next world you will be in a mechitza closer than the angels

B

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by 1daat - 04 Jul 2010 20:50

---

Kosher. Your plane trip story is such chizuk. It's an image I hope I will remember.
Yhashercoiach for sharing that. A true air force general!

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by bardichev - 05 Jul 2010 03:50

---

Ok its hot like gehennomm

I went to buy a pool for the liTtle b's

Sam waltons retail place was NOT the greatest place too shop so we hopped over to the big red Target

(Its amazing how the two chains attract different clientele)

Any way. Tell your YH. Yes its hot like hell. But its hotter in hell

Gevaldigggggggg

B

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by kosher - 05 Jul 2010 17:24

---

In several different threads, there are discussions about what/how much to tell your wife.

My impression has been that in general, we do not need to discuss our challenges in all their details (or the extent of our falls), but it is certainly worthwhile discussing the challenges that every healthy man has walking in the street and perhaps that we are more sensitive to these issues.

Here is a good example or where it can help, Obviously everyone's situation is different, but my wife would not ask me to go shopping in Wal Mart, Target, or any such store in the summer. I think Home Depot in the winter is about as far as I'll go. (But then / get stuck in airport and airplanes where its a lot worse :-[)

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by strugglingandstrivngBT - 06 Jul 2010 00:08

---

Jooboy wrote on 23 Jun 2010 12:25:

shmiras,

Here's a thought on what makes street lust so difficult. For me anytime I can get lust without doing an action my diseased part of me is very happy. So lets say I'm in an airport magazine stand and someone is browsing porn. If I look over his shoulder my addict is happy to get lust and my good neshama side is not too upset because there is the rationalization that "Hey, I didn't take it off the shelf. I didn't do some type of action to get lust".

Of course this really is a nonsense argument but I know it works very strongly in me, especially as it regards street lust. My addict says YAY lust! and my good neshama says what can I do?

For me the sin factor never helped get around this particular mind game. What I have found helpful is the realization that I don't want lust for myself and my own comfort and wellbeing. I want to keep the Torah but frankly, I don't care enough about GOD right now to not do these things for HIM. I have to realize I don't want to do these things because it hurts me!

so this was actually the last post I read so I'm not sure how relevant my response is at this point:

I just gave a quick dvar on this at shul(omitting the extreme relevance to myself). Why did Moshe get angry at the officers for bringing the female midanites back? because they should have killed them, they were guilty! but deeper, by keeping a whole bunch of females hostage, the same that had caused us to fall HARD, we are putting ourselves in grave danger. That is why they gave the gold "in atonement", even though they didnt do anything! while it is incredible that you havent been acting on things, remember that if just being near, even disapproving with intent to punish a threat requires atonement, so much more should we try to guard what we see, and immediatly just destroy a threat or leave it. I dont mean this in an accusatory manner, just trying to share a relevant Torah insight to give strength and motivation!

=====
=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by kosher - 08 Jul 2010 03:01

---

The 100 degree heat wave in the NY area certainly doesn't make things easier. I'm practicing looking around as little as possible, but these days, it jumps at you from all angles.

I am trying to think of something extra to do just to get through this hot weather any ideas?

Also, I am afraid I am going to get into a car accident when I'm driving without looking around to much. B, how do you drive your truck safely in this weather?

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by bardichev - 08 Jul 2010 15:07

---

good question??

i must be open and honest

keeping my eyes kosher while driving is a tough job

i AM NO EXPERT

HERE ARE SOME TIPS

#1 THINK OF THE AMOUNT OF CAR ACCIDENTS WE CONSTANTLY SEE ON THE ROAD

that fleeting second of enjoyment REMOVES our siyatta dishmaya

#2 THE PLEASURE IS SOOOOO FLEETING

#3 LISTEN TO A SHIUR WHILE U DRIVE OR JEWISH MUSIC

#4 IN THE CITY WHILE AT A RED LIGHT LOWER YOUR GLASSES

#5 BE BESIMCHA THAT U CAN OVERCOME THE SILLY YH

all's aid and done it's hard work. we all need siyatta dishmaya

kot

b

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by Holy Yid - 08 Jul 2010 21:06

---

I find that have something engaging to think about especially learning is very very important in this struggle. Also be content with life is very important also.

=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by an honest mouse - 25 Jul 2010 23:35

---

Thanks so much for starting this bards!

I wanted to start with some tips which ive found help me. I recently went to tel aviv where the streets are crazy! Instead of walking 15 mins, I would take the bus so I could bury my head in a book that Im very into (rav Yaakov kamenetsky's biography) that way i wouldn't have to look around.

Also, when I have to walk, like on shabbos for example, i sing to myself inspiring songs that make me feel closer to Hashem. If im filling my void with good stuff, then i can avoid looking at the bad stuff.

My main problem though remains the car. I used the car for lust for many years already and you have to concentrate on the road, which means that stuff is in your vision... plus, with internet or certain places you can just stay away, put up filters etc and then you're not 'getting in the ring'(to quote dov) the car is like the ring for me. not taking the car would be the best solution but just not practical. Has anyone got any eitsahs for the car?

thanks!

=====
=====

Re: shemiras einayim -non internet
Posted by kosher - 26 Jul 2010 00:03

---

Driving is definately a challenge! Last week I tried taking off my glasses while driving - the other members of my carpool were NOT amused! One small piece of advise, whenever possible take the highway route rather than the city route (e.g. GSP vs. US-9 when going from Lakewood to Brooklyn). The highway routes are always easier.

=====
=====