

Where I'm at

Posted by jerusalemsexaddict - 16 Jul 2009 19:45

To whom it may concern,

My name is Uri. I live in the jerusalem area and i am a sex and love addict. This took me a long time to come to terms with, to say the least. But that we'll get to in a second.

I am finishing now my third year in beis medrash. While i have had success in my learning b'h, i have a source of shame and anguish that has caused me great depression on a constant basis. I lived (live really) two lives; my yeshiva/religious life which is the source of much admiration and pride from my parents and rebbeim. And then there is my "secret life", where I spend time ranging from 10 minutes a day to almost full off days fantasizing and worse acting out of all sorts. I feel like the worlds biggest hypocrite. It bothers me even more cause i find sincerity and honesty of the utmost importance, and i have to stand and watch myself trample all over these traits. After several years of therapy i have recently come to the realization that basically all of my "major" issues have come from this place. I have major issues in getting close to people and keeping friends once i feel that they know me too well. i have a hard time sitting by myself due to my uncomfortability of sitting with a unsatiable sex addict (however ironic that might sound). The need creeps up all too often, followed by a crazy need to satisfy it. There are several paths to this: porn, masturbation, contact with a sexual girl, and, strangely enough, eating out at restaurants, but that we'll get to a diff time. Anyway, there is one main girl, as there always is. we have had the weirdest on and off relationship, to say the least. the jealousy and overprotection i had with her is still a shock to me even. anyway im tired so i shall continue this whoever bet under a week is owed quite some money

im home tonight for a family members yartzheit. a gathering took place at my house so im home for the night.

i was debating maybe not even posting cause its just a tease and i would miss u guys even more after,but the heilige rebbetzin advised me that its best to check in and show and receive some love.

the past week or so has been thank Hashem very good.

the learning is geshmack.

im away from home.

im in touch with a few tzaddikim ffrom the forum thank G-d.they are keeping me standing.

i miss you all so very much.

i am pretty lonely sometimes.

i started off really strong and had a hard day or 2 right now.

i went to a wedding last night and was just sitting there wondering when the time will come when i will have my own one person to connect to constantly.

i came home pretty disoriented and decided to open up the parsha.

staring me in the face was athe story of the isha yefas toar.

basically wat it is is that the jewish soldier goes out to war and falls in lust(my own term).

hashem basically says whats gonna happen.

the guy lusts,gets sick of her(lust is quite fleeting),hates her,has a messed up home,has a rebellious son who gets killed by bais din,and so on...

i gotta fully remove my lust before any serious relationship goes on,or else my life is gonna be one heck of a rollercoaster.

love from j-town-uri

Uri, its GREAT to have you back, even for a day.

Chevra,

This is not at all easy for me to write.

I feel alot of shame at this moment.

As i was afraid would happen,my depression/need/withdrawal has interfered with my life at yeshiva to a very intense degree.I feel such a degree of loneliness and intense inner turmoil that i cannot stick to the routine without going out of my mind.

But i am ashamed to admit this.I do not want to face the fact that i am not a regular yeshiva bochur.i do not want to face my sadness.i do not want to face my addiction.i do not...

Its one thing when im home during vacation.at that point,im using the time to fight the struggle.im my own person with my own challenges.its hard,but its not as hard as this.

I am not like the rest of the bochurim.I need....I need.

I take walks,pounding the pavement of street after street trying to just quiet myself for a moments time.

And i am even ashamed to admit my failure as a yeshiva student to my brothers and sisters here on this heilege site.Yes,that means you.My friends who I hid almost nothing from,who i have opened up to more than anyone in my life,who makes my pain an almost enjoyable battle sometimes.Even you I am ashamed to confront.

This is the third time i have come home since yeshiva started a week and a half ago.if i could,i wouldve returned in between every seder.Why?Because after years of struggling to find some way of healing the pain in some form of healthy manner,years of searching in vain,i had finally found this site.and it is a lifevest for me.And I felt so happy,for i knew immediately that this empty place in my heart which had been filled for so long with pain and lust could finally be filled with love,empathy,caring,and understanding.

And the world at that moment became a better place.

And I am not ready to go back to the sad world that I have been living in for so long.

Anyway,so I have been home,but for the most part did not post.Because I didnt want to hear comments of concern about me not being in yeshiva.

But dont you guys realize?I do not have what it takes.

Tonight the stress and intesnse feeling of depression(withdrawal) dropped even lower.I mamesh did not know what to do with myself.

I came home,impulsively really.

And I came on to the forum.

But I did not post how i was feeling.I was too embarassed.

Now here I am,with 12 days of cleanliness thrown down,becuase of my own unwillingness to admit my problem.Oy,meh haya lanu.

Are my only two options at this point s/p/m or GYE?

Will I be forever for the rest of my life extreme??

Do i have to purchase a laptop?

OY what will be,my dear friends.

-uri

p.s. my one peice of consolation for myself is that i did not make any calls to any girls.this fall took place alone.yay (sarcastic)

Uri! we're so happy to have you post!

I also sometimes feel, as a B.Y. graduate, that all my pairs are better than me. like they are all angels, working on small stuff while i have this huge struggle hanging over me always. Try to smile and cry to Hashem, not the y"h!

Get up, uri= Uru yeshainim mishenaschem! You can get up- we know you can! Also, it is a massive thing that you fell alone, without girls! Don't belittle it! You already won half the battle! At least you didn't let the y"h win all the way. He's wounded and weakened in your books and even when he comes at you for the kill, he can't come full force cuz you're so much stronger than b4 GYE! I know it seems insignificant but it's really a real win and it deserves a smile. and Hashem is smiling ;D!

now for some ideas: why don't you take a printed copy of the handbooks with you- bring GYE to yeshiva with you! Hide them in a place where if someone ends up finding them it won't point a finger at you. if someone does find them, then fine, great- they found 2 AWESOME handbooks!

Also, with your supreme, amazing writing talent you really should buy a journal! my journal's my best friend and we'd all benefit from any more poetry/songs that you'd write! you know those chidushai torah notebooks that are really journals that they sell in geula- if your near there at all? (a regular notebook also works but your journal is a bit more chashuv that a regular notebook!) I think your journal is definitely gonna be worthy to be called chidushai torah! buy one tomorrow, it'll be a life saver!

Keep smiling! Don't hesitate about posting- we know you only do it when it's important and it's such an important part of your life and no one will berate you for not learning when you need chizuk!

Uri...

what can i say at a time like this?

you're depressed and you feel alone, but truth is, we are ALL in the same boat. When I hear a shiur on teshuva, and i look around at my friends, I sometimes wonder what they're even doing there. My nice, pure friends, who never in their wildest imaginations would dream that the aidel girl sitting next to them is addicted to the internet.

and i also feel alone.

and sometimes, when i am surrounded by people, in a very stressful environment i also need my pacifier, the one thing that always made me "calm." the last time i fell i was under a lot of stress, and afterward i was so depressed. but it was different, for two reasons: a- because of GYE, i didn't fall as bad as i have in the past b- I picked myself up afterward, scolded myself (a lot), and STOPPED what i was doing. because before, once i fell, i would just give up. and this time, i stopped!

and you did too. you fell alone. do you know how big that is?!?!?

Uri- yes, you're different. but you're special. and Hashem loves you so so very very much!

You aren't a failure as a Yeshiva bachur. It's a rigorous schedule, and everyone needs a way to vent every once in a while. you are used to venting in a very unhealthy manner, and so yeah, it's got to be hard to stop. but in no way are you a failure.

Uri, we are always here, and you are always in our tefillos. you aren't alone.

(here i wrote something a little mussar-y. i took it out) now it's morning for you, and i don't even know if you'll see this, but please uri, don't get depressed. As pintele yid wrote somewhere (i think on tomim's thread) atzvus is the yetzer hara's biggest tool.

hatzlacha rabba in your tremendous fight for Hashem against the yetzer hara.

Dear Uri, you don't have what to be embarrassed about. We understand you perfectly. You had a very difficult upbringing, which translated itself into the disease that you have now; a desperate neediness, loneliness, and a subconscious "hole" that you learned to fill and medicate over the years through acting out. Hashem doesn't give such tests to regular souls. They'd have no chance. We've all gotten a peak at the brilliance of the soul that shines underneath this addict's messed up mind. We've all been blown away by its power. But you're not gonna be able to just walk away from your problems. You need more than just "anonymous group support". You need either real face-to-face SA groups, where you will learn to work the 12-Steps into your life with a sponsor, or therapy to help you deal with your past and learn how to break free and rebuild yourself anew.

(not that this is a chiddush for you
You owe it to your amazing soul - and to all of us at GYE!

I highly suggest getting in touch with one of these two therapists:

Dr/Rabbi Naftali Fish - Jerusalem, Native English Speaker

Torah Based Psychotherapy, combined with meditation and hypnosis techniques

"Healing the Inner Wounded Child"

Office: 02-5376514

Home: 02-6722663

Situated in Jerualem

Rabbi Shraga Shlachter (English and Hebrew Speaker)

Working with sexual addiction in the frum community for many years.

Trained in the 12-Steps (and author of the book "The First Day Of The Rest Of My Life")

Low Rates

Cell: 052-6923065.

E-Mail: shragaschlachter@gmail.com or hayomharishon@gmail.com

Situated in Ramot or Kiryat Yovel

One last note.

No addict is strong enough to change on their own. The most important thing to remember is that while we are on the "ACTION COMMITTEE", Hashem is on the "RESULTS COMMITTEE".

We won't succeed to BEAT it, all we can do is keep doing OUR PART. And when we do ours, Hashem will do His!

What is "our" part?

Well, it depends on the level of the addiction.

Read the GYE handbook.

- keep posting here
- keep calling your friends
- get in touch with an SA or SLAA group
- Work the 12-Steps
- Get in touch with a therapist

And if you do yours, be sure that Hashem will do His. Put your trust in Hashem!

With all our love and sympathy,

Guard and the GYE Family.
