

Ki Nafalti , Gam Kamti

Posted by ben durdayah - 30 Dec 2010 08:14

:(Although I've had my ups and downs over the years, and some long streaks of abstinence from any P or M, I never got off the roller coaster. Not that I think that I'm the most far gone person here as far as the quality and quantity of the shmutz, still I know that this is an addiction that never left me and never will if I do nothing about it.

This morning i thought of a mashal (someone else might have used it already, but for me it was a moment of clarity from heaven): A temporary bout with the YH about lust and P etc. is like a strep throat -take your antibiotics, drink fluids, rest up and it'll go away; if you don't catch the bacteria again -you're cured, and it's gone. But when the struggle for kedusha keeps on being just that, and with the slightest slip -you feel that you've lost control and your actions show that even years of self restraint didn't do the job (like ridin' a bicycle -ya never forget how to; same thing goes for sewage surfing...) that my friends is like Rachmana Litzlan Lo Aleinu V'lo Aleichem 'Yennerr Machla', and not the kind that attacks at first a specific organ or is operable; rather like the kinds of Yenner Machla in the blood -the best they can do is put it in remission, but it's there to stay -and when Chalila V'chas it's active -there's no limit to the damage it can do and the places that it will show up in. Same goes for addiction to Shmutz.

What's the point of this whole tirade? ... to be continued in the next installment (because it's too hard to type without seeing what your doing and I've filled the window and now it's dancing the Hora and making me dizzy...).

Okay folks,

Here I am.

Ate my keziasim, cut myself off from technology for 7 days.

And now I'm back.

And I am powerless.

It is now that I feel how sick I am.

Yes, I am sick. No, I am not a Rasha. Just sick.

I feel ill.

I feel compelled to slip and slide and look at things that I shouldn't be until I finally fall.

Why do I want to?

I don't want to.

I really feel sick.

The YH wants me to feel dirty. As if I soiled myself with a few careless looks.

I don't want to.

I'm rambling.

I think that only after such a long break from the outside world do I feel so sick.

Not as if I was flying in the seven heavens for seven days.

My Pesach definitely had its ups and downs. As a matter of fact I spent the first day and a half of chol hamoed in total depression over some things that I can't change and am hoping for yeshuas Hashem.

But now I feel how sick I am.

I am a lust drunk. I smell it, I want it. No matter how much it doesn't pay. No matter how much I want not to blow it. I have this little demon inside of my trying to push me closer and closer to the red line. To toe it, and finally cross it.

Hopefully this post will help me to remind myself why I am here in the first place.

A gezinten Zimmer y'all,

r twerski just came out with a book called gevurah

it's a great book, classical R' Twerski, some biography, lot of divrei torah, lot about the Steps, and some great stories

a gezint zimmer reb EBD, remember to adjust your bike helmet strap to accommodate the sefira beard. see you at the Haas Promenade. bring a bottle of petel and we can get a circuit or two: talpiot-neve yakov.

i know for a fact that ebd lives neither in neve yakov or talpiot, and zems, you forgot he is a chassid and has the same beard all year round ebd, did i represent you right?

quite the escape artist, my cuddly gingy friend,

the dapper durdaya will return?

Avi!

Be careful...

You're going to blow my cover.

Now everybody knows that I live in Ashdod, Elad, Beitar, Ramat Shlomo, Bet Shemesh, Ramot Gimmel, Emanuel, Sorotzkin, Har Nof, Bayit Vegan, Kiryat Sefer, Brachfeld, Gush 80, Arzei, Beis Yisrael, Meah Shearim, and the Rova...

now, don't be tooo obvious at disclosing where i live, mr eskimo (vidok!!!lol) but hey, i guess i did the same to you, so eye for an eye, they say gee, it's good we both have one eye left so durdaya, what i meant to pull with pliers was,what are your thoughts? where are you holding? how's recovery? what insights can you share, fears, or hindsight?

this makes the man, not his suit, not his willpower, rather by his rigorous honesty and mutual vulnerability to ice coffee,

-mr hyde
