

im finally using a filter

so i got a filter 3 weeks ago and it is amazing!!

how could i have lived without it!!

just by installing it it helped me not even try to look at anything bad. for 3 weeks I was able to stay away from evil without a problem.

then I was bored and alone....its always like that....and for the first time i tried to look at evil....

the filter held up and did its job very well! I did not see anything bad.

but i felt terrible because its the thought that counts and i wanted to do it...why do i feel so terrible as if I had done it?

this filter thing is amazing and i dont think a jewish home should go without one.

my Y"H first told me not to get one because it would block my work, or websites that i like...blah blah...

its fully customizable and i have had no problems

Great News!!! ;D ;D ;D

Don't put yourself down for not wanting to see things you shouldn't. Tis the nature of our addictions. Remember who told you not to put in a filter? That was the Y"H. Remember who said that they would put one in anyways? Can't think of who it was? Guess what? I got news for you. IT WAS YOU. You put that filter in to do exactly what it did. Good job!!!!

good! great! gevaldig!

having a filter is a very good thing and a big step in the right direction (although not the total solution)

keep on working and moving onward and upward

To borrow a line from Rav Avigdor Miller, having a filter is like wearing pants when you go
