

der ort far der vort

Posted by lavi - 25 Aug 2014 14:06

---

ELUL.

yes folks. that time of the year.

but no, i'm not hear to add PRESSURE, (although i'm good at that).

normally we view elul as being a intro to rosh hashana etc...

but there is a way of view the elul as being the ikar and by the way rosh hashana is also here. see ran rosh hashana daf 3 in dafei harif, that asked, acc. to r.yehoushua that world was created in nissan, why do we get judged on tishrei?

He answers, that the 40 days from elul until yom kippur, has the hashpa'h from the time Moshe went up the second time, so it is a period of rachamim and ratzon. seeing that rosh hashana is a hard day of judgement, Hashem wanted to soften it up, so He decided to put the rosh hashana in a period, where it is easier to face.

amazing. enjoy your elul. opportunity time.

(look it up yourself for maximing effect)(always recommended)

=====

Re: der ort far der vort

Posted by lavi - 27 Aug 2014 23:59

---

and it explains why elul has to do with "ani l'dodi v'dodi li"

=====

Re: der ort far der vort

Posted by lavi - 29 Aug 2014 14:05

---

u'levaker b'haicholo

see rashi on this kapitel 27? that brings a donash, that says "u'levaker" is a loshon of boker, which means morning. bright and early. see you in shul.

=====

=====