"Death to the Sinners" (Parsha Achrei)

This week's Torah portion spells out in no uncertain terms - the consequence of illicit relationships is ??? - excommunication.

What is ????

You all know the literal meaning. Let's take it to the next level

R' Chaim of Volozhin z"l would say that ones current situation creates his reality. If one sins, the sin itself is the punishment of Gehinom. In the same vein we can explain that ??? too is the reality of ones existence.

"The first recovering alcoholics, out of whose experiences the Twelve Step program was forged, had a tough saying: "Find God or die!" Alcohol has a way of destroying the body. In a different sense, this is also our dilemma: "Find your true Connection or lose your self!" Lust has a way of destroying the soul" (White Book pg 93)

"There are few things so pitiful as an aborted spiritual life. The amazing thing is that we can give the appearance of life, even though we are dead" (ibid pg 93)

This is for those gyes swimming the tide, holding onto to today's plank (daf);

"Ben Poras Yosef... Alei Ayin" - Yosef's eye did not want to enjoy something (Potifar's wife) that was not his, therefore Shilo in his portion merited extra area for eating its Kodshim, i.e. from where it can be seen.

Rav Papa added - All of Shilo need not be visible. It suffices if part of it can be seen. Zevachim 118b

Hi Markz,

I listened to all 3 parts of this Series and relistened to this specific one twice. It might be my clogged head, however I didn't hear any answers to those questions. In one sentence, if I can sum it up, It sounded like he is saying everyone needs to be his own judge and pasken for himself.

I got a stinking thinking problem, so I don't think I can have the clarity necessary to make an unbiased decision.

To fight or Not to fight - That is the question:

Some captive women were redeemed and brought to Neharda'a. They were kept in the attic of Rav Amram the Chasid; the ladder was removed.

A beam of light reflected from one of the women. Rav Amram was seized with lust. He moved the ladder to ascend (normally, 10 people are needed to move it). As he was halfway up, he screamed 'there is a fire in Rav Amram's house!' (Kiddushin 81)

Rav Amram intended to teach his students with this, that debates and confrontation against the YH are not recommended in times of need, rather other tools should be used (Rada'l), e.g. calling a fellow GYE or Group call

Parshas Achrei - GYE Wrote:

Dear MosheF,

Please read the Ohr Hachayim Hakadosh on this page. It sure sounds to me like he's talking about lust addiction! He directly addresses the complete powerlessness that a person who is caught up in lust will experience. He suggests that the only way to succeed in this area is by completely avoiding visual and mental stimulation. (If the Ohr Hachayim had lived today where this solution is close to impossible - and where the entire world's sewage is available with the click of a mouse, who knows - he may have come up with a 12-Step program! :-).

But listen to this: The Ohr Hachayim also touches upon the core of the 12-Steps in this very piece. He writes that for those who are already caught up in lust (read: addicts) they cannot do it on their own, and that ONLY Hashem can ultimately save them from this powerful Yetzer Hara.

Rabbi Avraham J. Twerski wrote: If one can, it is a segula to read this section at the kever and ask that in his zechus Hashem should help

I just learned the Gemara, and I right away thought of this point, and I said to myself, I wonder if anyone on gye brought this up? Quick forum search told me I'm not Christopher Columbus

Thanks markz for this great post.

Mark, thanks for the quote.

I had a similar thought last week, when I was experimenting with shmiras eynayim when shopping. I came to the conclusion that shmiras eynayim does not take place in your eyes. The eyes are not that easily controlled; if they are pointed at an object, they will robotically relay the visual to your brain. The real shmiras eynayim seems to take place in your mind, where you choose what to focus on, although I need to think about it (or practice it) some more to understand it better.

Do you think we should change the name from GYE to GYM?

My suggestion would be: LL (but that might not be what the guards had in mind).

Jack123, I know you say you were falling when you were fighting to put filters, and now fight less when you gave up on filters and are 25 days clean.

Here's something to think about ;-)

What do we see from this?

A fence is not designed to save someone that's going to fall.

He won't fall here? He'll fall somewhere else.

The Torah is not recommending us here to put a protection to save ourselves in case we may fall.

Rather, a fence is simply designed to save this location from being the place of calamity.

Someone that's headed for a fall, needs to find other ways to save himself from the pending doom.

A filter is is not designed for him.

A filter is recommended simply to close off loopholes.

Hatzlacha

Sorry if this will rub people the wrong way, but I have to get this off my chest.

Every time I read someone writing pas besalo I get angry. Like I want to reach through the web page and smack the guy around a bit. If I could erase this horribly abused phrase from everyone who has even glanced at gye I would. There is a phrase from a certain type of porn I used to watch called ' ' (moderators feel free to redact that but I wrote it for a reason). And every time someone says pas besalo here, that is the first word association for me, because that is what they mean.

Don't get me wrong I know the phrase is from the gemara and is quoted in rishonim and sifrei halacha, but it has been so distorted from its original intent.

It reminds of the passuk ??? ??????????. Which used to make me angry, why is my wife not desiring me? Where is the curse? Me in my lust warped brain thought that meant my wife should be waiting for me every night in bed with lingerie begging me to have sex with her. But of course Hashem was talking to chava and not to adam, and she understood what He meant. That she needs the love and validation from her husband. as Rav Arush repeats several times, the husband is like the sun and the wife like the moon, reflecting her husband's light.

So to with pas besalo. Lust addicts read that and say I can do whatever the heck I want. I can fantasize, I can stare because I have my wife to use as a sex toy. The real gemara that started this phrase is as follows on yuma 67a:

Meaning when a person has no food available he will be more desperate, when he knows where his next meal is coming from he is less desperate to find food.

Tranlated to your wife it means that a NORMAL married person should be less easily aroused becasue he knows that his wife is there. So he can be slightly less cautious when peeing for example.

The messed up addicts think it is no big deal if I get myself aroused because my wife is there. And if I get myself aroused she had better damn well be there to save me from the sin of hashchatas zera levatala.

I promise you there is no mishna gemara chazal responsa or chasidisha vort anywhere that says it is ok to lust and fantasize and stare at women in the street if you are married because a holy jewish wife has to save her holy jewish husband from sinning by being his [outlet].

“When Rav and R. Nachman would go on a long distance trip, they married wives on their travels.

Asks the gemara - Don't they need to wait seven days from the engagement before marital relations?

Answer (#2) This whole arrangement was only for Yichud so as to create a Pas besalo scenario [Yoma 18b]

It's clear from this that Pas besalo means - The man has “bread in the basket” which may be accessible 7 days later, but not necessarily that sex is available today AT ALL.

MBJ, i hope this shakes you out of hiding, it's been a long time bro...
