

Halacha shailah...

Posted by Kollel Guy - 08 Dec 2009 18:01

Does anybody know if your allowed to wear cloths which got sz on them? I heard you just can't daven in them, can anyone give me a mekor for this?

=====
=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by jerusalemsexaddict - 09 Dec 2009 06:51

Jerry Seinfeld: Now they show you how detergents take out bloodstains, a pretty violent image there. I think if you've got a T-shirt with a bloodstain all over it, maybe laundry isn't your biggest problem. Maybe you should get rid of the body before you do the wash.

=====
=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by silentbattle - 09 Dec 2009 06:55

Well said, Uri... :D

But what about while the body is in the bathtub full of acid? It's going to take time to fully dissolve anyway, so in the meantime, might as well clean up everything else, too!

Do I sound like I know too much about the proper procedure for that kind of thing...?

=====
=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by Tomim2B - 09 Dec 2009 08:37

Dear Kollel Guy,

Before we heard of GuardYourEyes we felt alone in our world. We felt that we've been living double lives struggling with a problem that we've kept secret for so long. Intrenched deep in our pursuit - caught by the grips of lust, some of us have come to believe that our lives have become unmanageable. Still, deep in shame and embarrassment, we have felt that there was no-where to turn for help. But then, when we came across GuardYourEyes and found that there are others exactly like us, we discovered the tools, guidance, and support to find freedom from what ails us! This is our story, and now it's yours!

Kollel Guy, welcome to our community! Why don't you take off your coat, get comfortable, and stay a while! I'm glad you're here! And in no time, you'll get to meet all the wonderful people who stand to your support!

We invite you to have a look around, sift through the many threads, and make use of the tools that GuardYourEyes has to offer. If you'd feel comfortable opening up and sharing, I can assure you that this is the greatest step you can make towards recovery! So go ahead, pull out

As long as you're here, we'll be standing by your side, fighting alongside you! And let me tell you: there aint no turning back!

I'll be available for most hours of the day, so you can send me a shout-out anytime, right here on the site, or via email at: Tomim2B@gmail.com.

I wish you much success and blessing in your journey, and may we soon see the brilliant light that you're about to bring into the world!

With love,

2B

=====

your keyboard, and get writing!

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by the.guard - 09 Dec 2009 15:19

Rage ATM wrote on 08 Dec 2009 19:53:

as long as someone thinks they need to know the answer as to whether a jew today, who is a muchzak tameh met, can wear clothes that are a rishon letumah they can never ever begin the path to recovery...

Reminds me of something from Jerry Seinfeld that someone posted on the forum once:

"Now they show you how detergents take out blood stains, a pretty violent image there. I think if you've got a T-shirt with a bloodstain all over it, maybe laundry isn't your biggest problem. Maybe you should get rid of the body before you do the wash".

=====

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by habib613 - 09 Dec 2009 15:22

Uri wrote on 09 Dec 2009 06:51:

Jerry Seinfeld: Now they show you how detergents take out bloodstains, a pretty violent image there. I think if you've got a T-shirt with a bloodstain all over it, maybe laundry isn't your biggest problem. Maybe you should get rid of the body before you do the wash.

=====

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by the.guard - 09 Dec 2009 15:23

woops. I just noticed that uri posted that here already ;D ... I guess I should read to the end of the thread before posting next time.

Hey Uri, great minds think alike. I guess I must have a great mind too. Yay!!

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by Me3 - 09 Dec 2009 15:51

Umm. How long does it take for the body to dissolve?

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by Steve - 09 Dec 2009 16:36

Yous Guys just crack me up.

Well, me an' da boyz gotta a job to do.

Ciao.

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by silentbattle - 09 Dec 2009 18:02

Me3 wrote on 09 Dec 2009 15:51:

Umm. How long does it take for the body to dissolve?

Darn it, it's STILL not...wait...oh, man, I should've known that orange juice isn't acidic enough.
Now it's just sticky.

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...
Posted by Steve - 09 Dec 2009 18:53

hope you know a good plumber

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...
Posted by Kollel Guy - 09 Dec 2009 19:45

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...
Posted by Me3 - 09 Dec 2009 19:54

Well had we used a stronger acid we could have been back learning already.

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by Steve - 09 Dec 2009 20:14

Kolel Guy,

You're right. I only have a heter to work right now. If I spend work time here, it's also bitul torah, not just bitul work time. I'm not on payroll, so there's no geneivah, but if I don't finish projects I can't get paid for them.

Got another good shailah?

=====

Re: Halacha shailah...

Posted by Kollel Guy - 09 Dec 2009 20:46

OK how bout this one...

The Rambam says in hilchos teshuva, that azivas hachet, means one is so undeniably positive he will never do the aveirah again, that h-shem himself can be his witness to his commitment.

Is it possible for an addict to be mekayem the mitzvah of teshuvah according to this? Bec the whole basis of an addicts recovery is the acceptance that his addiction needs constant attn, bec if it was really true that he is so positively sure he will NEVER do it again, the gue community should not be nec for him.....unless he's really not that sure?

=====