

Bircas HaShachar Chiddush

Posted by Azuvada - 20 Feb 2013 10:00

This may be brought down somewhere but I was thinking...isn't it interesting that right after "pokeach ivrim" is the bracha of "malbish arumim"?

Meaning, if our eyes are going to be opened, people better have their clothes on.

Just thinking...

=====
=====

Re: Bircas HaShachar Chiddush

Posted by Blind Beggar - 20 Feb 2013 13:11

I couldn't agree more. There are 6 brochos in a chain every morning:-

1. I am not a woman.
2. I have eyes - I'd better watch them
3. Thank God the women wear clothes!
4. Free me from the chains of the Yetzer Hora.
5. Thank You for picking me up after so many falls.
6. The Mabul came because of zera levatola. I'm lucky not to have been drowned.

=====
=====

Re: Bircas HaShachar Chiddush

Posted by mr. emunah - 22 Feb 2013 01:00

if I may...

we all know that Roosters are horrible lust addicts (shelo nimtza talmidei chachamim etsel nishosayhem kiTarnigolim)

Baruk atta Hashem, Hanotain liSechvi Bina lihavchin ben yom uven Layla

Thanks God for giving the rooster the ability to differentiate btwn day and night because under normal circumstance he wouldn't be able to

=====
=====

Re: Bircas HaShachar Chiddush
Posted by Azuvada - 23 Feb 2013 02:32

Very profound indeed! Good Shabbos and a Freilichin!

=====
=====

Re: Bircas HaShachar Chiddush
Posted by Blind Beggar - 25 Feb 2013 13:30

Sechvi also means a person, so we are thanking Hashem for giving us the ability to distinguish between the dark night and the light day.

=====
=====

Re: Bircas HaShachar Chiddush
Posted by mr. emunah - 26 Feb 2013 23:08

that sounds like a Matisyahu song...

=====
=====