

A Prayer For all of us

Posted by justin - 15 Sep 2020 09:27

---

When I come to this site and I see the people here going through all this pain, guilt, and shame. Falling and having to go through all that, over and over again. Then picking themselves up hoping that this time things will be different. Falling again and getting up again and again. Living constantly with the pain of not being worthy, feeling dirty or being a bad person.

When I see all this, I ask myself why are all these people doing this to themselves. Why can't they just move on with their lives. The whole world does these things and the whole world doesn't have a problem with it. So why does everyone here have to live through all this pain. Doesn't it seem unwarranted.

The answer, I think is clear to all. Everyone here is going through all this pain and all these struggles just for you Hashem. They all just want to do your will. They want to feel close to you. They want to feel worthy of your love.

Hashem if you are looking for Jews that are willing to go through hell just to prove their love for you and their desire to do your will no matter how much pain it causes them over and over again, look no further then GYE. Everyone here is struggling on a daily basis for one reason and one reason alone. To do your will.

Hashem, see how much we love you and care about you.

Grant us all here a HAPPY, HEALTHY, and SUCCESSFUL year, and view every fall as just setting up the scene for the awesome display of love for you that we will show you when we pick ourselves up again.

=====

=====

Re: A Prayer For all of us

Posted by Rebuild613 - 15 Sep 2020 12:49

---

Deleted

=====

=====

Re: A Prayer For all of us

Posted by Meyer M. - 16 Sep 2020 04:08

---

justin wrote on 15 Sep 2020 09:27:

When I come to this site and I see the people here going through all this pain, guilt, and shame. Falling and having to go through all that, over and over again. Then picking themselves up hoping that this time things will be different. Falling again and getting up again and again. Living constantly with the pain of not being worthy, feeling dirty or being a bad person.

When I see all this, I ask myself why are all these people doing this to themselves. Why can't they just move on with their lives. The whole world does these things and the whole world doesn't have a problem with it. So why does everyone here have to live through all this pain. Doesn't it seem unwarranted.

The answer, I think is clear to all. Everyone here is going through all this pain and all these struggles just for you Hashem. They all just want to do your will. They want to feel close to you. They want to feel worthy of your love.

Hashem if you are looking for Jews that are willing to go through hell just to prove their love for you and their desire to do your will no matter how much pain it causes them over and over again, look no further then GYE. Everyone here is struggling on a daily basis for one reason and one reason alone. To do your will.

Hashem, see how much we love you and care about you.

Grant us all here a HAPPY, HEALTHY, and SUCCESSFUL year, and view every fall as just setting up the scene for the awesome display of love for you that we will show you when we pick ourselves up again.

Well written.

=====