

Its been 2 years since I was last here...

Posted by WeWillNotBeForsaken - 03 Apr 2011 19:51

Its been 2 years since I was last here. Much has changed since then. Perspective. Belief.

But then again, much hasn't changed. I am still an addict, and thankfully, my life has still not been ruined. I am interested in making yet another effort to overcome my weaknesses. Its interesting how much goes on in 2 years. I occasionally think, what if I had been able to rid myself of my problems back then? Where would I be today? Its nice, but yet extremely depressing to see how so many of the others who had visited this site in 08 have been able to succeed. I am jealous, but I think that's a good thing.

I have come to the realization that there will be several huge obstacles, at least for the time being, to my journey:

- 1) I cannot have a filter on my computer. My work requires access to many sites. I have dedicated my life towards my work and cannot simply change that.
- 2) I watch movies, visit FB, go to many mixed events and frankly do not see myself changing any of that pretty soon.
- 3) It is impossible for me to avoid "triggers" - I would have to live the life of a hermit.

That being said, I feel that the fact that I even visited this site again shows that there is yet some hope for me.

Oh well, Day 1, take 1753, here we go again...

=====

Re: Its been 2 years since I was last here...

Posted by Eye.nonymous - 11 Apr 2011 11:46

WeWillNotBeForsaken wrote on 10 Apr 2011 23:00:

"It would still behoove you to..."

Anything that behooves and doesn't bechew it's cud is rendered unfit for consumption according to Jewish Law.

--Eye.

=====
=====

Re: Its been 2 years since I was last here...

Posted by Dov - 11 Apr 2011 16:20

And one more thing - I am not telling you what I think your problem is. That is none of my business at all! And besides, I am not so smart to know that. All I am doing is holding my 'picture' up for you to compare, what you think is the only thing that matters about yourself - cuz you will do what your own heart tells you and not what anyone else's heart tells them.

Hatzlocha!

=====
=====