Hi

I'm 20 and married and I love to where diapers I always dreamed to have them on me but never really got to where them (since I stop to wet the bed) but all way use to steel baby diapers and massterbate in them but never got to have adult diapers

Wean I was in yesheva in dorm I always use to sneak in baby diapers in my room and wear them at night but did not fit me I just won't to fell it and once I even found a all pack of diapers in the garbage next to the dorm at night wean everyone was asleep I headed in the dorm and use to take one and use it for a few nights and them change one

Later on I start to search on the net . . . and started everyday to look at porn.

I always wone to talk to someone abut this but was to shy to tell someone about it I'm looking to stop it and I can't I need help I cand stop it every time I c diapers I have to massterbate I'm secret to have kids like this I don't wone have sipers in my house it will b dangers for me

I told my wife about it and she was not very happy to here it but I promise her to get over it and ill stop loving diapers and stop to search porn but its impossible I need help urgent I can't go like this anymore every time I'm going to the grocery I have to pass the diapers a few times

Its crazy I can't any more I need HELP!!!!!!! Pleas someone HELP ME.....

I also struggled with this. I have adhd and through adhd coaching I realized there is a connection between this and adhd. Don't know if this is nogeeiah. But it changed the game for me

No I didn't I just didn't know where to start from

thanks for the advice

but I still want to talk to someone that got out of it

I got out of other unhealthy addictive behaviors. You are welcome to PM or email me. If you decide to look for a therapist you can call the organization Relief and ask them to recommend a sex addiction therapist that can deal with sexual fetishes.

Update: I'm b"h in therapy for the last 6 months or so and I can see some progress

By saying progres i mean to say that they identified my issue is because of being insecure

I'm now in the process of getting my body calm to be on a stable position and to be open not isolated

Welcome back, I haven't been active here for a very long time.

Was very much dealing with my struggles and like you said @einanilimili I have been doing the same, although I'm not yet fully in a good place I've come to accept this and learnt alot about myself which I never knew how to do.

This specific Journey can be very lonely since its not from the most typical nisyones that people have, so first thing is learning to accept it and realize that this is your struggle in life and If Hashem gave it to you its meant for you to get to a better place through it, I don't think our goal is to be perfect I think its more of about getting back up and not allowing ourselves to stay down.

And to all of you on this forum and anyone that comes across this just give yourself the space to cry it out if your able to and want to and know that there is something behind it that caused you to become ABDL whether its trauma or abuse ETC. and be accepting about this nisoyen accepting the situation can be half of the nechama.

Thinking of you all Holy brothers.

Why be lonely? How this desire manifests itself may vary from person to person, but we all are challenged by it one way or the other. Speak to the very caring people here, unburden yourself, receive chizuk and advice, and watch your challenge diminish b'ezras Hashem.
