Here's a riddle. A person spent several thousand dollars on a GPS so that he would never get lost. However, he was still always lost. Why?

Because he never took his eyes off the GPS to look around!

(And because if he's an addict, he also hacked the GPS to surf the net...)

Lev you don't need to look far to find yourself. Everywhere you go, there you are, and there Gcd is. Amazing!

When all else fails, get on the floor and refuse to leave until H" plants some spark of Himself into your brain. Mamash refuse to leave. Hashem comes through!

welcome to the wonderful world of GYE. as you can see, part of the therapy here is laughticus comedius, which is wonderful in treating diseases like lust addiction and many other ailments. there are no requirements as to what you should post. a little background and details of your history (anonymous, of course) and the struggles you currently face are usually what people write.

browse around and see what others do to get the feel of what goes on.

here's wishing you hatzlacha and that you find the path to a good life

TZ bmchilas kvodcha

the concept of road kill is not limited to GYE

the joke stands as is

Your honor please strike the objection from th records!

Lev Nishbar,

It would help you to have someone live you can speak to...

I don't know what road kill is all about.

I have nothing negative to think about anyone here.

I think about the NACHAS you might have hearing that i did not fall.

and i think about how you will feel if i gave up and had a fall.

How is that not Negative?!?!?!?!?

Don't even think about falling, and that's a warning.
