

Johannesburg Jews

Posted by Time4Change - 28 Oct 2012 18:56

Hi there everyone,

I've been around here for about two years - and I've learnt that one of the most hopeful tools has been; meeting real people and bringing the addiction to life.

I've met some incredible and wonderful people, and we support and encourage each other.

There are a few of us who attend the local 12 step groups (other moreso than myself; i'm not committed as I'd like to be).

I'm basically encouraging everyone and anyone to bring this addiction to light (in whatever way possible), and more particularly to the Jews in Johannesburg that there are some amazing people out there who are struggling with the same thing as you are - and don't be ashamed to bring it to light. There's nothing to lose, and everything to gain.

If you'd like to chat more, and create some sort of accountability relationship - you can email me @ NowIsTime4Change@gmail.com

Don't get stuck in the trap of isolation and self denial - reach out and connect with other REAL people sooner rather than later.
