Thank you Hashem!

*THIS POST IS BROUGHT TO YOU BY FOLGERS*

Today is day 49 of the omer

Yay!

(yes i know, don't count the heenelech...)
Shavuot is tonight

today is day twelve to the P and day 106 to the M (quick torah thought...

The posuk says some think like "lo yiga Bihar..." - do not touch da mountain (in regards to mutton Torah) well if anybody here has said tfilat zaqa, then you know that a certain part of an organ is called the Rosh hagevia - meaningly the top of the hill... so maybe the secret to kabalat hatorah is to not touch the "Top of the mountain" and to make gedarim... (I thought of this during night seder last night and I wanted to tell it to my havruta, but I thought he might look at me a bit strange...

I like your vort Mr E!

To add to your vort, it then says "lo siga bo yad" don't touch with the hand... and then it says

One of the things is "ki yaroh yiyareh". I have heard dov talk about (correct me if I misspeak)
"yoreh chatoim baderech" Hashem throws us down onto the path. Sometimes, the way to get us back on the path is to be thrown down and have no hope. Then we turn to Hashem and start living!

Have a wonderful Shavuot!

Especially if you have to go searching for an open mikvah, and you come out at like 5:30 shabbos afternoon all dripping, and people are giving you these weird looks...
