

Any ideas

Posted by Chabadguy - 28 Nov 2012 02:43

I have this free filter called k9 that keeps crashing on me i need a good solid filter but as a

=====

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by Gevura Shebyesod - 28 Nov 2012 04:59

bochur i cant afford it

K9 is a good solid filter that usually behaves well. There may be something else going on here.
What antivirus software do you have?

=====

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by Blind Beggar - 28 Nov 2012 15:19

Any ideas? How's this for an idea? No need for any K9 or anything.

Happy Announcement:

Launching Today!

VCF: Venishmartem Cloud Filter (Beta)

Want to have a strong filter on your computer without the nisayon (test) of holding the password? Join the VCF and we'll be the only ones who can make changes to your account! venishmartem.com/vcf

Limited licenses available for the BETA. First come first served.

~~~~~

This is GYE's answer to your question.

=====

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by LookingForwardToChange - 28 Nov 2012 16:21

---

---

Hi chabadguy,

Do u Have AVG on your Computer?

=====

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by Gevura Shebyesod - 28 Nov 2012 17:24

---

From my experience, AVG, Kaspersky and Eset may not get along well with K9. McAfee and Symantec/Norton products work OK, as does Microsoft's MSE which is free!

=====

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by Blind Beggar - 28 Nov 2012 21:11

---

I could not get Eset to work with K9 but Avira and Avast! are both free and work perfectly with K9. I have used K9 with Zone Alarm and Comodo free firewalls.

Don't forget GYE's filter which I posted about. It is cloud based so it should be very light.

=====

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by Chabadguy - 29 Nov 2012 00:41

---

thanks alot im gonna uninstall avg and install avast.

I dont know about this new cloud thing. If k9 is working well why change.i dont have the [password, a friend does.

btw I'm almost at a week in my 90 day journey. Doesnt sound awesome but for me it is :)

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by jewish jew - 29 Nov 2012 11:33

---

chabadguy wrote on 29 Nov 2012 00:41:

I hope you mean a week in your new life not only 90 day journey (I personally do the 90 thing just to know where I am up to, I don't do it as a target at all). And just ask your parents how they felt when you were a week old. When I had a child the first week I was over the moon not just "awesome".

Keep up the "over the moon" work! Yitzchok

=====

Re: Any ideas

Posted by Chabadguy - 30 Nov 2012 00:00

---

good stuff! thanks for that

=====

btw I'm almost at a week in my 90 day journey. Doesnt sound awesome but for me it is