

new name, hopefully new game

Posted by tryingtobeme - 13 Dec 2012 08:26

So the motivation for this change was the fire that I couldnt figure out how to resign in/up to the new version. however, in doing this, I decided it was time to change my name. I considered doing so anonymously, not sharing my old one, but I feel that is a step backwards in being true. Who I am, on many levels, must acknowledge, though NOT imitate (hence being on this site) who I was, on many levels. SO I was strivingandstrugglinbt. I am still essentially all of those things, but I am a bit more open to growth.. Thank G-d I am doing well, still urging, still "fighting", still asking the Ribbono shel Olam to help, feeling glad when He does, and confused when He seems not to (earlier today an image popped up, legitimately randomly; I managed to cover it up). Bezras Hashem, more growth to come for all of us... Chanuka Sameach!

Dear TTBM (and SSBT),

If you have not yet, please see my post on Captain Kirk...you are really taking a great step to bringing the parts of you together, now. Continued hatzlocha, old friend! within 1 second and X out of the page, but I still saw it...
