

Hello Forum

Posted by ays laasos - 04 Mar 2013 04:31

I've been visiting this website for over a year, but mostly to reset my 90 day chart after a fall. I've had some good streaks going, like 72 days where I wasn't reading or watching any triggering material and I had no problems of mz"l. Then I lost my inspiration and the longest I could go was a week tops. I haven't posted yet on the forum so I figured I would give it a shot- maybe I would get more help if it was interactive. When I signed up for the partner program, my partners didn't respond to my emails so I gave up with that. Now I'm just trying to work on being a better person. I've done my best when I take it one day or one test at a time, but it gets difficult sometimes. I hope that by joining this forum, and being able to blog about my successes and ch"v failures, I will be able to grow.

Kol Tuv,

Ays laasos

=====

=====

Re: Hello Forum

Posted by moish u.k. - 04 Mar 2013 15:30

Welcome aboard.

It would be helpful if you tell us a little more about yourself (anonymously of course).

=====

=====

Re: Hello Forum

Posted by friendlyjew - 05 Mar 2013 00:47

From one newcomer to the forums to another, welcome!

=====

=====

Re: Hello Forum

Posted by alexeliezer - 05 Mar 2013 22:34

Welcome!

Blog away!

=====

=====

Re: Hello Forum

Posted by reallygettingthere - 06 Mar 2013 00:05

welcome.

Please do share with the oilom. Whats your favorite ice cream flavor? Do you like Irish poetry?
How long have you been struggling?

Eli

=====

=====

Re: Hello Forum

Posted by mr. emunah - 06 Mar 2013 23:37

Wulkum,

We Likes you, please join us on the path to te light of the Messiah.

D

=====

====

Re: Hello Forum

Posted by ays laasos - 06 Mar 2013 23:44

Never really studied Irish poetry, I like popular psychology more. I've been struggling for about 3 years, after finding pornography on my brother's laptop. I really got more into working on myself after joining this website over a year ago, but I go off and on in terms of failing.

I apologize if I don't update this blog, I have a lot of work right now and just come here for occasional chizuk. I'm a fan of getting chizuk even if when I don't feel a fall coming on bec it just keeps me in a positive mood.

Also my favorite ice cream is mint chocolate chip.

=====

====