

Persistent Partner Problem ("PPP")

Posted by toraschaim - 18 Aug 2013 08:08

---

I have contacted several people through the GYE system about being a partner, but none of them have responded. (This was several weeks ago). Am I just getting bad luck, or is this a common problem?

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (

Posted by inastruggle - 18 Aug 2013 08:13

---

I dunno.

Did that answer your question?

I sincerely apologize for this post, I don't know what's gotten into me today.

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (

Posted by Avrom - 18 Aug 2013 15:37

---

toraschaim wrote:

I have contacted several people through the GYE system about being a partner, but none of them have responded. (This was several weeks ago). Am I just getting bad luck, or is this a common problem?

Im not sure what the cause is. I had a similar experience. so i deleted my application.

If you looking for a partner I think posting and chatting will bring better results... when you get to know someone youd like to get closer with - pm for email and phone number..

=====

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (
Posted by Dr.Watson - 18 Aug 2013 16:01

---

I also have several potential recovery partners and sponsors in my 'pending requests' list. Only one person so far has agreed to share numbers. It's annoying because it took a lot to get to the point where i wanted to open up and talk to someone on the phone, i took a deep breath and clicked the button but it didn't do any good.

=====

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (
Posted by chesky - 19 Aug 2013 12:41

---

Just to share that I used to get extremely frustrated, angry and resentful when my efforts in recovery did not go the way I expected. I would feel that if I am already trying to recover, then why does HaShem not help me. (BTW these incidents were excellent excuses to act out!)

I once shared my frustration with a friend, and he told me that for him it is like when he goes to an SA meeting and can't find a parking spot!

It took me time to learn and accept, the my addiction is from HaShem, my life is in His hands AND ALSO MY RECOVERY. A hard one to swallow but one I thankful for.

I don't know is this is relative but I thought that it might help.

=====

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (
Posted by Dr.Watson - 21 Aug 2013 20:35

---

I tried joining the phone community as well just now and wasn't able to. It said I needed to enter the fields correctly but I can't see what's wrong with what I entered. Is it because I entered a mobile/cell number?

In any case, if there's anyone in the UK or USA that wants to, or is willing to talk once in a while, please message me

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (
Posted by israel613120 - 25 Aug 2013 23:54

---

I am not ready to talk openly with real people, but I kinda feel I should

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (
Posted by Dr.Watson - 26 Aug 2013 00:26

---

If you live in the UK or US (not Israel, too expensive), I'd be more than happy to talk to you with or without real names. message me if you want.

=====

Re: Persistent Partner Problem (
Posted by gibbor120 - 26 Aug 2013 08:31

---

Post here, "meet" people. See who you share things in common with and then reach out through PM and eventually exchange phone numbers. That would be my advice.

=====

