

Very very lonely.

Posted by R76 - 11 Oct 2013 04:18

Since about '00, but much more so since I graduated with PhD in '08 I am very lonely. I would like to be a part of a Jewish community but the closest Chabad is 50 miles away and I do not drive.

Needless to say visiting a place like Temple Israel is not an option.

Where can I find virtual or telephone Jewish community?

=====
=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by R76 - 14 Oct 2013 05:47

>> Maybe you hate math because you were hoping to get the Fields >> medal and since you didn't get it now you are rejecting math, >> instead of math rejecting you?

I hated Mathematics in '96 already -- long before I got a degree in it.

=====
=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by ploni.almoni@gmx.com - 14 Oct 2013 06:31

Do your parents treat you nice at least, now that you did what they wanted you to do?

=====
=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by George999 - 14 Oct 2013 06:38

R76

I think for someone such as yourself, the Breslov approach to Hashem is a good one.

These are the teachings of Rebbe Nachman, and focuses on joy.

www.breslev.co.il

lazerbrody.typepad.com/

=====
=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by R76 - 14 Oct 2013 22:21

>> Do your parents treat you nice at least, now that you did what >> they wanted you to do?

I prefer not to discuss my family issues. In any case my work has been poor. In USSR poor work was called tufta -- since the work was forced, workers found genuine ways to not do it.

=====
=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by R76 - 14 Oct 2013 22:25

>> I think for someone such as yourself, the Breslov approach to >> Hashem is a good one.

>> These are the teachings of Rebbe Nachman, and focuses on joy.

Thank you very much. Are there any Jewish forums where I can just talk to people about general issues?

=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by ploni.almoni@gmx.com - 14 Oct 2013 23:21

Generally for general issues you get a Rabbi.

=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by ZemirosShabbos - 15 Oct 2013 00:00

Yeshiva World has active forums about anything under the sun (well, almost anything)

theyeshivaworld.com/

=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by R76 - 15 Oct 2013 07:45

>> Yeshiva World has active forums about anything under the >> sun (well, almost anything)

Thank you. It is pre -- moderated and thus slow.

=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by George999 - 16 Oct 2013 04:28

I have never used a Jewish discussion Forum for general issues, but I found this:

www.thehebrewcafe.com/forum/forumdisplay.php?fid=74

=====

Re: Very very lonely.

Posted by R76 - 17 Oct 2013 03:45

Thank you. Sadly there are no big/active forums.

=====