Why get out?

Pornville is such a happy place, no?

I'm not teasing you.

I'm asking you to articulate what's going on for you in a way that will be a helpful first step.

I was a walking stirah of a yeshiva guy. I learned all day every day, putting all my effort into my learning, except for the one or two times a day that I'd go act out.

I'd learn so much during zman that I'd get home exhausted, then I'd spend 3 weeks bingeing on porn. Then I'd do 'teshuvah', promising that this time it will be different. Next bein hazmanim will be different, I just need to get myself organised.....

We're all in the same boat. Please tell us a bit more about the problem.

Welcome! As another normal yeshiva guy, this is the best place to be. Opening up, and hearing what people have to say really helped me. I totally understand the stira you may feel is your life, learning shtark one moment, and the next moment you're looking at porn. We're all in this together. Keep on posting, and KOMT (keep on monster trucking). Don't despair, you can do it!

WELCOME! I beg to differ. Can the GYE Historian please bring up the posts that say we are all Being "normal" or "above average" is a common statement here. Keep posting, you are among friends that understand where you are coming from.
