

I did not understand something in " wall of honor"

Posted by stronguy - 22 Feb 2015 01:01

---

I saw in the wall of honor some people with more than 1000 days, how is this possible? They registered the site more than 1000 days?

=====

=====

Re: I did not understand something in

Posted by doingtshuva - 04 Mar 2015 12:14

---

.

=====

=====

Re: I did not understand something in

Posted by GYEmember - 04 Mar 2015 16:43

---

stronguy wrote:

I saw in the wall of honor some people with more than 1000 days, how is this possible? They registered the site more than 1000 days?

I also don't understand it.

All I know is that I try not to look forward more than a day. Just today.

After the day is over, I write down that I am clean, and I count the days which have passed as clean days.

I try not to worry about the future cleanliness. All that matters to me is basically a matter of hours, not more than a day, for sure.

I will say, even though I know I cannot get married (I'm a bachur) right now, because of this, I try not to look at the numbers of the amounts of days clean which I think I need to be before I can get married. All I know, is that right now I can't get married, and right now I have what to work on. One day imy"H, I will look back and say, "you know, I really feel ready and confident now after x amount of days." (I will consult with the people who have an understanding in this, of course.) However, I can't look forward very far, because more than a day is WAY TOO MUCH for me to handle.

I really hope this is helpful for you, it was helpful for me to write it:) .

=====

====