

Yitzi

Hi guys,

Just wanted to post to these forums and get some feedback. I wouldn't exactly call what I'm going through a "struggle". I'm not really trying to stop; I'm just not in that frame of mind.

I still think there's some value in coming forward and saying that. Maybe..

Welcome Yanki,

Yes you came to the right place. Smart of you to open up. Maybe read the hand book, and read the forum. Maybe you can accept in your mind that you can change, and then maybe you will want to change the behavior.

keep it here.

Welcome Yanky....I mean yitzi,

Nice to come here....ummm maybe it isn't...it's kinda scary.

Good you decided to stop, or did you?

Did you ever start? Maybe not.

Either way, there are all types here, and we also like to have a good time in recovery.

So Gershon, let us know what it's gonna be.

b'hatzlachah...either way.

I read the handbooks a while back, and I completely stopped for about 2 years. Then I was really committed.

Didn't really decide to stop, no. Lacking the inspiration, motivation, whatever.

There are those who call me...Tim. (Wondering who's going to be the first to get that reference.)

Anyhoo, welcome, and Mazal Tov for being so honest. I think you have a more solid foundation to restart your recovery, when you're ready, than, say, someone who comes here disingenuously claiming they're ready, when they're really not. It starts and ends with honesty, and your honesty is really inspirational.

i noticed the typo right after i posted it, but i figured if you ever called me on it, i would just say it was in the spirit of ???? ???.

but you're real clever aren't you. you barvorned ???? ??? before i could say anything. i guess you're living up to the haskama i gave you on the other blog.

so i guess my only question is now this: after my whole geshmake shtikkel toira, THAT is what you focus on? a typo? we are supposed to be focusing on welcoming our friend LUIGI, and here you are nitpicking. i want you to really think about that, and here is some visual aid...

Warning: Spoiler!

(and yes, i know i didn't even spell it right in the first post, there is no need to blog about it) reb BOB, as far as i am concerned, bli neder, from here on in, the focus is on you. we are all one big happy family, and we're glad you are part of it. keep posting. ??????.
