

Flirting

Posted by Return Again - 18 Aug 2015 13:31

My wife pointed out to me that what I thought was "innocent" communication with other women, is actually flirting!

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by cordnoy - 18 Aug 2015 13:47

Return Again wrote:

My wife pointed out to me that what I thought was "innocent" communication with other women, is actually flirting!

in her opinion.

It can be; it depends.....it depends if you were havin' an innocent conversation or if you were flirtin'.

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by Return Again - 18 Aug 2015 13:49

In my mind it was innocent, that is the problem I am told. My wife's mantra is that I'm in denial.

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by AlexEliezer - 18 Aug 2015 13:53

I can't have an innocent conversation with a woman.

It's my sick mind

I always think she's flirting with me.

And I'm always thinking more about her than I should.

Addict.

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by unanumun - 18 Aug 2015 14:35

I can't have an innocent conversation with a woman. period.

even if she is not flirting and i am not thinking of flirting, and even if I am thinking about nothing but the conversation at hand, I still have no ability to have a conversation as I would with another man.

Don't know why. It just is that way. Frustrating but that's life for me. And it probably always will be. (There might be some deep rooted issues from my past from wanting to find favor in girls' eyes. I recently revisited that tekufa in my life and realized that there may be something there)

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by cordnoy - 18 Aug 2015 14:55

I am addicted to lust -thinking whether I'm talking to a female or not. What's the difference?

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by Return Again - 18 Aug 2015 15:02

I appreciate your candor, and it scares me!

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by neshamaincharge - 18 Aug 2015 15:04

unanumun wrote:

Don't know why. It just is that way. Frustrating but that's life for me. And it probably always will be. (There might be some deep rooted issues from my past from wanting to find favor in girls' eyes. I recently revisited that tekufa in my life and realized that there may be something there)

Very interesting. I'm the same way, and I was wondering what it was all about...

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by rav etzlo - 18 Aug 2015 20:41

Definitely with me it has to do with trying to get recognition or validation from them, and i feel that deep down that causes me to believe they want me and are flirting with me, even in the most innocent sounding conversation, and it makes me say the dumbest things. I therefore try to plan in advance if possible how to stay focused on keeping it short and to the point and not

=====
=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by yiraishamaim - 19 Aug 2015 00:47

You seem to have a good grasp on the motivation of your actions. That is most valuable.

When working on emunah, and developing our personal relationship with Hashem, his existence and connection to us becomes more and more real.

Knowing that we are doing what Hashem wants, especially if it is a challenge, is a recognition/validation that warms the soul.

=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by Return Again - 19 Aug 2015 08:31

It is because my relationship with our Maker is so intense that my "Dark" side can be overpowering at times.

=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by cordnoy - 19 Aug 2015 12:59

Return Again wrote:

It is because my relationship with our Maker is so intense that my "Dark" side can be overpowering at times.

my dark side is overpowerin' even though my relationship with God is not intense at all.....just sayin'....

=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by gibbor120 - 19 Aug 2015 20:04

As a general rule - keep it businesslike, not personal. Share facts, not feelings. If you can avoid it altogether - ma tov umah naim! Just something off the top of my head. Sometimes it's a fine line (and a dangerous one!).

=====

=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by Return Again - 20 Aug 2015 00:57

I found your reply useless

As a general rule - keep it businesslike, not personal. Share facts, not feelings. If you can avoid it altogether - ma tov umah naim! Just something off the top of my head. Sometimes it's a fine line (and a dangerous one!).

=====

=====

Re: Flirting

Posted by Bigmoish - 20 Aug 2015 02:20

Uh, that's pretty rude, if you font mind my saying.

Also, whose comment are you referring to?

=====

=====