

lets try this

Posted by emunas hashem - 18 Apr 2016 22:33

I saw a link to this website a while ago, but I ignored it. Now I'm here.

So... I'm 18 years old. I was on the streets, I guess youd say 'off the derech' for a few years, and struggled with drug addiction. Baruch Hashem, I got past that. So imagine how frustrated I have been when I started really working on shmirat einayim and not to watch pornography, and I discover I am addicted!

I have tried everything, and it hasn't worked. with hashems help, hopefully this will. Pleased to meet you all.

=====

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by markz - 18 Apr 2016 22:36

Welcome!

I love your username :-)

This is the land of friendships and tweets!

Enjoy it - ALL OF IT!!!

If you need anything do not just contact any random guy here

Make sure he has a sense of humor first - it's important - believe me!

Keep on trucking!!

=====

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by mr.clean - 18 Apr 2016 23:00

Welcome!

So u can tell us first hand if this addiction is harder to kick then drugs.

if I may ask, how did u kick ur drug habit ?

=====

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by shmulyz19 - 18 Apr 2016 23:12

markz wrote on 18 Apr 2016 22:36:

If you need anything do not just contact any random guy here

Make sure he has a sense of humor first - it's important - believe me!

Keep on trucking!!

I have feeling this is aimed at me. I said I was sorry.

=====

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by ecstatic - 18 Apr 2016 23:43

Hi EH. Welcome aboard. You have landed in a community that is full of love and hope. You are not alone. You are with your brothers.

That, more than anything else here, has turned my life around and I hope it will for you too.

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by peloni almoni - 19 Apr 2016 01:03

I saw a link to this website a while ago, but I ignored it. Now I'm here.

So... I'm 18 years old. I was on the streets, I guess you'd say 'off the derech' for a few years, and struggled with drug addiction. Baruch Hashem, I got past that. So imagine how frustrated I have been when I started really working on shmirat einayim and not to watch pornography, and I discover I am addicted!

I have tried everything, and it hasn't worked. with hashems help, hopefully this will. Pleased to meet you all.welcome.

two questions on what you wrote:

1. for lust addiction, and as far as i am aware from the big book alcohol addiction, one does not "get past that". its getting clean, and a lifetime of recovery. is drug addiction different , in that you "get past that" and you just walk away, or is it the same principle of "once an addict always an addict"?

2. after your realization regarding lust addiction, "yo tried everything". can you share some of the "everything" you have tried?

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by peloni almoni - 19 Apr 2016 01:06

if you are wondering why there is a pointless post here, blame the new editor.

my intelligent contribution is available in the next post.

dearest admin,

enough already. the experiment failed. please roll back to the previous editor.

love always,

PA

=====
=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by peloni almoni - 19 Apr 2016 01:07

emunas hashem wrote on 18 Apr 2016 22:33:

I saw a link to this website a while ago, but I ignored it. Now I'm here.

So... I'm 18 years old. I was on the streets, I guess you'd say 'off the derech' for a few years, and struggled with drug addiction. Baruch Hashem, I got past that. So imagine how frustrated I have been when I started really working on shmirat einayim and not to watch pornography, and I discover I am addicted!

I have tried everything, and it hasn't worked. with hashems help, hopefully this will. Pleased to meet you all.

welcome.

two questions on what you wrote:

1. for lust addiction, and as far as i am aware from the big book, also alcohol addiction, one does not "get past that". its getting clean, and a lifetime of recovery follows. is drug addiction different , in that you "get past that" and you just walk away reborn and completely healed, or is it the same principle of "once an addict always an addict"?

2. after your realization regarding lust addiction, "you tried everything". would you please share some of the "everything" you have tried?

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by ecstatic - 19 Apr 2016 03:01

peloni almoni wrote on 19 Apr 2016 01:07:

welcome.

two questions on what you wrote:

1. for lust addiction, and as far as i am aware from the big book, also alcohol addiction, one does not "get past that". its getting clean, and a lifetime of recovery follows. is drug addiction different , in that you "get past that" and you just walk away reborn and completely healed, or is it the same principle of "once an addict always an addict"?

2. after your realization regarding lust addiction, "you tried everything". would you please share some of the "everything" you have tried?

Hi PA.

My buddy Emunas Hashem is all of 18 years old. He has just gone through a very difficult period, struggling with his Yiddishkeit, with narcotics, and now with ?????? ????????. I sense that you might be taking what he wrote a little too literally. Let's cut the man some slack and allow him to settle.

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by cordnoy - 19 Apr 2016 03:16

Welcome,

It should be B'hatzlachah.

I too am curious: what is "everything" that you have tried?

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by peloni almoni - 19 Apr 2016 03:18

damn editor.

?' ?????

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by peloni almoni - 19 Apr 2016 03:20

ecstatic wrote on 19 Apr 2016 03:01:

peloni almoni wrote on 19 Apr 2016 01:07:

welcome.

two questions on what you wrote:

1. for lust addiction, and as far as i am aware from the big book, also alcohol addiction, one does not "get past that". its getting clean, and a lifetime of recovery follows. is drug addiction different , in that you "get past that" and you just walk away reborn and completely healed, or is it the same principle of "once an addict always an addict"?

2. after your realization regarding lust addiction, "you tried everything". would you please share some of the "everything" you have tried?

Hi PA.

My buddy Emunas Hashem is all of 18 years old. He has just gone through a very difficult period, struggling with his Yiddishkeit, with narcotics, and now with ?????? ????????. I sense that you might be taking what he wrote a little too literally. Let's cut the man some slack and allow him to settle.

didnt realize you two knew each other.

what i am pointing out is merely this: a lot of us when we start, we fool ourselves. we say - i have tried everything, when we have in fact never been open, honest, humble, or agreeable to real change.

but someone who has really kicked an addiction like your buddy, i AM NOT CHALLENGING, i truly just wonder, having gone through the process, what it is that he tried. it has gotta be more real than anything preliminary that i ever tried.

and i think allowing him to share his thoughts is a much more respectful approach than answering for him. after all, he is an adult. no? (and it may be healthier also ...)

=====

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by markz - 19 Apr 2016 03:29

PA, my friend, can you try re-edit your post and cut it to 40 words max, like cordnoy

I think length of posts is also a turn off for newbies, even if we feel he's a pro and can teach us a thing or 2

=====

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by peloni almoni - 19 Apr 2016 03:32

markz wrote on 19 Apr 2016 03:29:

PA, my friend, can you try re-edit your post and cut it to 40 words max, like cordnoy

I think length of posts is also a turn off for newbies, even if we feel he's a pro and can teach us a thing or 2

funny. this one you just posted has 45 words.

=====

=====

Re: lets try this

Posted by markz - 19 Apr 2016 03:35

Look you just posted in your home thread about English misspells.

You want a good editor? Or a math professor?

You can't have everything

=====

=====