

SECOND TRY-UPDATED

Posted by fightingyid - 29 May 2016 21:34

I was able to find my old username "fightingyid" with the help of A member of the GYE staff.

A few members told me to try to reconnect with my old account, so b"h i was able to locate it with GYE'S help. My new account that i opened this morning "anothertry613" is deleted and i am back with my old one "fightingyid".

I've been a member of GYE a while back, it helped amazingly, but when i slipped a few times it made me give up, and i haven't even visited GYE for close to a year. My mistake back then was that i should have still been involved with GYE, but i will not be focusing on my past mistakes, rather i am looking towards the future.

Recently i finally got my act together and got all of my devices completely filtered, I am still trying to recover from all of the filth i have exposed myself to, that is why i am back here, to better myself and try to make myself a healthier and a better God fearing man, and i know the one place i can work on myself and have a journey with is GYE.

There is one thing I've learned from GYE is that one should never give up!!

I am looking forward to a new journey with GYE!!

I hope you understood what I was referring to

I didn't mean fight with me.. That would represent treason with the whole society of communism

The loser is the weaker one that fights

The winner is the stronger one that surrenders got it??

Warning: Spoiler!

Thanks Fightingyid for hosting our conversation on your forum! But sereioisly keep on posting..
What I committed to do (not saying been too great at it) once I returned was to post at least once a day on the forums.
