

Hello

Hey

long time dealing with sex addiction which eventually landed me in prison. I had extensive psychotherapy and "spiritual therapy" and did great for many years. But when my second marriage turned sour (she was not with me when I was engaging in acting out behavior) and she refused to talk in therapy I returned to using websites to find women. Two years ago we finally divorced and I have since met the most remarkable woman. Yet I still cannot completely turn off the recent behavior. I joined gye back in 2012 and didn't get serious. But I'm trying again now. So thanks for being here, more later.
