

College Student

Posted by slippingjew - 25 Sep 2016 22:49

Hi, everybody.

I am a 20 year old college student. I have been struggling with the viewing of inappropriate images for years. I always thought I could beat it on my own, but I cannot. I found ways around filters and programs.

I thought I had gotten over it when I went to learn in Israel after high school and didn't feel any temptation to look at things there, despite having access to internet. But when I came back after a year, slowly but surely I found myself Googling assur things again.

So, here I am, hoping to finally conquer this thing once and for all.

We really need to fix Cordy's issue. This is like modern-day hieroglyphics.

Thanks.

this one is probably not gye's fault.

It happens occasionally with hotmail also, both when I am in incognito mode.

Whenever I put those symbols, it usually means a four letter word, not live or love, but closer to hope and stuff like that.

Hopefully not some other four-letter words...

(I'm trying to think of a witty word but I can't).
