Wow welcome, it's great to have you here!! I'm just reading around and see that there are a bunch of new guys signing up, which is AWESOME, but everyone seems to be posting a similar thing: Im x years old, been doing y for x number of x and have managed to stop for x number of x and found this site by accident. I'm so excited and a bit overwhelmed by all the tools can someone help me out, where do i get started??

I really want to get everything out of my head and cure myself and stop doing all these things forever, how do i do that?

just sayin' (thats a tribute to cordnoy)
